Silks and Dress Goods.

Great bargains at the final closing out sale of Barker & Co., 59 Market street.

Country Merchants

Replenishing stock should, before purchasing visit the establishment of Barker Co., 59 Market street, as they have full lines of Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings, Prints, and other staple goods, which they are selling at much less than Eastern prices.

An Infallible Cure

For diarrhea, dysentery and cholera, is found in the medicine prepared only by Jas. Fleming, druggist, No. 84 Market street. In view of the approach of the cholera, no family should be without this valuable medicine. Sold only at Fleming's Drug and Patent Medicine Store, No. 84 Market street.

A Certain Safe

And effectual cure for fever and ague is found in Fleming's ague mixture. When all else fails call and be cured by a single bottle of this wonderful medicine, it has never failed to cure others and it will cure you. Sold only in Pittsburgh, at Fleming's Drug and Patent Medicine Store, No. 84 Market street.

Dry Goods at Wholesale.

The best place to buy them, either in the East or West is at Barker & Co's 59 Market, where can be found the best assortment of Sheetings, Shirtings, Prints, Print stuffs and other staple goods.

Oil News.

We are informed by Messrs Keir & Co, that the valuable oil territory recently in litigation on Island Run, Beaver County, has been amicably adjusted, and that Messrs. Thomson & Orms, and Fritchard & Co., are prepared to execute leases on this justly celebrated territory.

The Most Favorable Time.

Merchants are generally careful in "turning" their stock at certain seasons. The prudent financier clears his store of stock at designated times, even if he has to sacrifice thousands of dollars by the operation. If this grand secret of business was more generally understood we should have a much less number of bankruptcies because the accumulation of stock is a sure forerunner of ruin to the merchant. Robinson & Co., 61 Market street, have commenced to clear their sales rooms of the large stock of boots and shoes which has been left over. They must dispose of every pair of boots and shoes in the house, and their prices have been greatly reduced. This is a great sacrifice, as previous to the present clearance sale this enjoyed the flattering reputation of being the cheapest shoe house in the West. Our readers will do well to give Joe a call during the continuance of this great clearance sale.

With the Almost

Certain advent of cholera amongst us in the coming spring, we say again to our readers do not be unprepared for it. Have what you know and what experience has demonstrated to be, a strictly reliable medicine to nip it in the bud upon the first premonitory symptoms. Do not trust to new and untried medicines; what you know to have cured will cure again. Fleming, druggist, No. 84 Market street, prepares a medicine that was used with infallible success during the last visit of the cholera to this city, and we unhesitatingly say that no medicine in the world is superior to it. Don't be without a bottle of it, that is our advice, and when the dread scourge does make its appearance, you are comparitively secure.

Sold only in Pittsburgh, at Fleming's Drug Store, No. 84 Market street.

Is Health Worth Having?

If it is, protect it. It is a jewel as easily lost as virtue, and in some cases as difficult to recover. Nature, in our climate, and especially at this season, requires to be occasionally reinforced. But everything depends upon the tonic used for this purpose. The medicinal tinctures, all of which are based on common alcohol, are dangerous. Quinine, as everybody finds out who takes much of it, is a slow poison. One safe protective from all unhealthy atmospheric influences exists, and one only. This powerful preventive is Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, a compound of the purest stimulants ever manufactured, with the most effective tonics, alteratives, regulators and depurators that chemistry has yet extracted from the botanical kingdom. Convalescents, languid and feeble from recent sickness, will find the Bitters an incomparable Restorative, not disagreeable to the taste, and eminently invigorating. No other stimulant produces the same effect as this Stomachic. It does not excite or flutter the nerves, or occasion any undue arterial action, but at once soothes and strengthens the nervous system and the animal spirits.

Hostetter's Bitters

Are sold wholesale and retail at very low rates at Fleming's Drug and Patent Medicine Depot, No. 84 Market street, corner of the Diamond, near Fourth street.

Fall and Winter Goods.

It is with great pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the subperb stock of Fall and Winter Goods just received by Mr. John Weler, Merchant Tailor, No. 126 Federal street, Allegheny. His stock embraces some of the most beautiful Cloths, Cassimeres, Overcoatings and Vestings ever brought to the western market. His assortment of Furnishing Goods, comprising Shirts, Drawers, Collars Neck Ties, Handkerchiefs, &c., cannot be surpassed east or west. A large stock of ready made Pant Coats, Vests and Overcoats, will also be found at his establishment. Persons in want of any thing in the clothing line should not fail to give Mr. Weler a call.

Thomas W. Parry & Co.,

Practical Slate Roofers, and Dealers in American Slate of various colors. Office at Alexander Laughlin's near the Water Works Pittsburgh, Pa. Residence, No. 75 Pike street. Orders promptly attended to. All work warranted water proof. Repairing done at the shortest notice. No charge for repairs, provided the roof is not abused after it is put on.

Bikorene.

There are one hundred distinct nervous diseases, and there is not one of them that will not yield to the great invigorant, Bikorene. Why suffer the torture of nervous weakness for a day? The Bikorene will give you instant relief and permanent strength. Sole agent for Pittsburgh, Joseph Fleming, Druggist, No. 84 Market street. Sent by express any where.

The World and his Wife,

And grown up daughters, are unanimous on one point. They declare unreservedly that Sozodont is a blessing to their mouths, that it improves and preserves their teeth, invigorates their gums and sweetens every breath they draw. Hence they buy it. As Dominie Sampson says, the sales are pro-di-gious.

Carpenter Jobbing Shop.

Having returned after an absence of three years in the army, I have re-opened my shop for all sorts of jobbing in the carpenter line, at the old stand, Virgin Alley, between Smithfield street and Cherry Alley. Orders solicited and promptly attended to.

WILLIAM FORREST.

GENERAL NEWS.

THE London correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, under date of December 23, writes that John Thaddeus Delane, editor of the London Times, has been dismissed from his position on that journal, and on the first of January the Times was to appear under new auspices. This change is said to be due to the feeling that it is necessary to cultivate more friendly relations with the United States. The correspondent adds that Samson, the money editor, will also probably go out.

CAPT. Dangerfield Parker, commanding of the military prison at St. Louis, whose arrest was ordered by Judge Primm, on account of his refusal to obey the order of the court requiring him to produce an alleged boat-burner, in his custody, refused to be arrested; and Gen. Huffman, post commandant, told the Marshall who came to take him, that his arrest would be resisted by military force. Judge Primm has referred the case to Gov. Fletcher, for his action in the matter.

A BILL was introduced in the Kentucky Senate a few days since to incorporate a negro bank in Louisville. The bill passed after having been amended by adding a provision "that the said bank shall have no connection with the Freedmen's Bureau, and that no person, shall be permitted to act as officers who have lived in Bostsn, Mass."

Two men and a negro boy attempted to row across the Niagara from Black Rock to Fort Erie, late Saturday afternoon, when the boat was crushed in the ice, and one of the men was drowned. The others kept upon floating cakes of ice for three hours, going meantime seven miles toward the falls, and were rescued almost frozen, by some daring men who heard their cries.

ON Friday afternoon, a man, seriously laboring under the influence of lightning whisky, went through the window of the Bank of Cleveland, scattering gold and greenbacks in every direction. It is not believed that he had any felonious intention of making an appropriation for his own use, but that he had lost his equilibrium and in his eagerness to find it, went through the window, without thinking what he was about.

THE proprietors of the principal New York hotels had a meeting Friday morning, and adopted resolutions to exclude hereafter all "deadheads" from their respective establishments. Said deadheads, it is intimated, were connected chiefly with the railroad and steamboat interests.

GEN. JUSTUS MCKINSTRY, who was dismissed the service for official dishonesty by sentence of a military court at St. Louis, is in New York, living at a cheap boarding-house in the Bowery. He was a great McClellan man in the election of 1864.

THE Houghton (Mich.) Gazette of the 6th inst., says that St. Mary's Mineral Land Company is about to dispose of all its lands on Lake Superior to a company of French capitalists, who are to pay therefor $3,000,000 in gold.

EX-GOVERNOR ANDREW, of Massachusetts, has received a complimentary letter from Gen. Grant, respecting his valedictory address, approving of both the "tone and argument" of the document.

THE Lebanon, Ohio, Star, says that Mrs. Margaret Littleton, wife of Dr. Littleton of Deerfield, committed suicide on Tuesday afternoon by taking poison. Domestic infelicity the alleged cause.

A STRONG effort is being made in the Wisconsin Legislature, to restore capital punishment, the abolishing of which has not had the result that was anticipated.

ANOTHER revolutionary survivor has been found in the person of John Spears, who lives near Danville, Ky., is about one hundred years of age, and still enjoys good health and unusual vigor.

DR. NOTT, of Union College, is failing very fast. Last week his death was looked for daily. He cannot survive many days.

HON. G. W. JULIAN of Indiana, received at Washington, during the past week, inclosed in a threatening letter, a large piece of a negro scalp with the hair attached.

A NUMBER of American vessels are among the sufferers from the recent frightful gales around the English coast.

Northam, 2d Pa.; J. M. Bradley, 5th Pa. Cavalry.

A MOST daring robbery was perpetrated on Saturday of last week, at the residence of Mr. George Kiehl, in North Middleton township, Cumberland county. Three masked villains entered the house and bound Mr. Kiehl and wife with cords, after which, by a flourish of knives over Mr. K., they compelled him to tell where his money was secreted, which they secured and fled.

RENO, OIL CREEK AND PITHOLE RAILROAD.—About eight miles of track are laid upon this road and the work is progressing at the rate of half a mile per day. Should three be good weather this week, the track will probably be laid to McClintockville by Monday night next. The new locomotive works finely.

THE agreement between the Reading Railroad Company, and the Atlantic and Great Western Company, is destined to make some changes in railroad enterprise. A new route to New York, by way of Sunbury, Shamokin, and Mt. Carmel, it is said, will be established in the spring.

A MAN was murdered near Pleasantville, Venango county, on Tuesday night last. The man was found on the road turning off from the plank road at Pleasantville, and had been assaulted, robbed of $300, and brutally murdered, the body being horribly mangled.

A GREAT number of proposals are being received for the fifty wells to be put down by the Reno Oil and Land Company, and the chief difficulty will be to decide who, out of so many good bidders, must be rejected.

Fenian Meeting at Philadelphia—Address of Mr. Killian.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—There was a large Fenian meeting here to-night. It was addressed by Mr. J. J. Rogers, of New York, B. Doran, Killian and others.

Mr. Killian called upon the American people to be serious in treating this Fenian movement. It was the proper development of an American idea. He held that every true American is or ought to be a true Fenian. Its success would give Americans what they sadly wanted, foreign policy. A nation, like an individual, becomes morose when always looking into itself and finding fault with itself. Foreign policy, six or eight years ago, would have saved us from civil war. Mr. Killian and the other speakers were vociferously applauded.

Florida Colonization Scheme.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The President pro tem. of the Senate, has received the credentials of Mr. Kirkwood, of Iowa, for Senator until the 4th of March, 1867, and those of Secretary Harlan for the long term, commencing on that date.

Col. Osborne Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, &c., for the District of Florida, has submitted a plan to Maj. Gen. Howard for the consideration of the Government for colonizing the freedmen in Florida. He suggests that the United States purchase from Florida all that portion of the State below the 28th degree of latitude and give it a territorial form of government; none but freedmen to be permitted to buy or purchase land, and each head of a family to have eighty acres.

The President received to-day many visitors including a number of members of Congress.

From Cincinnati—A Colonel Killed by a Hotel Keeper—Storm—Sale of Bonds.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21.—A difficulty occurred last night between Colonel Knott and Captain Hines, proprietor of the Planter's Hotel, corner of Third street and Broadway, about the character of a lady boarder in the house, in which the former was fatally stabbed by the latter.

The storm on Friday night was very severe in this neighborhood. At Lexington, Kentucky, trees were torn up, fences prostrated, and chimneys overthrown.

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars worth of bonds, of the Dayton and Hamilton Railroad, held by the city of Cincinnati, was sold yesterday, for one hundred thousand dollars, cash.

Shipwreck and Loss of Life—Canibalism of the Survivors.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A Fortress Monroe letter of the 18th, reports the arrival of the ship Elvira, owned in Philadelphia, on Dec. 13 from Antwerp, with a cargo of petroleum, with the loss of spars, strained and shattered, eight hundred barrels of oil thrown overboard, and six feet of water in her hold. The ship and cargo was insured.

The schooner Pattie Martin, of Philadelphia, was wrecked at Hatteras Inlet on the 7th, and Captain Smith, of Camden, N. J., and a colored cook were frozen to death. Two others were rescued. One was badly frozen after remaining on the wreck five days. For the last twenty-four hours they fed on the body of the negro cook.

Storm in Kentucky and Tennessee.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 20.—The weather was very warm yesterday afternoon. At night the mercury fell from sixty to nineteen degrees. Soon after midnight a heavy storm of snow set in. At Nashville there was a severe storm last night, blowing down several houses in Edgefield, with a heavy rain and snow. The mercury fell to three degrees below zero. The snow is an inch and a half deep.

E. Walker Benedict, of the firm of D. S. Benedict & Jones, died last night of pneumonia.

Large Shipment of Petroleum.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—The ship Lancaster sailed for Antwerp this morning with the largest cargo of petroleum ever taken from the United States in one vessel, taking eight thousand and seventy-three barrels, containing two hundred and seventy thousand one hundred and ninety-one gallons of crude oil, valued at over two hundred thousand dollars.

Railroad Accident.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—The Indianapolis express train collided with a box car at Delhi this morning, upsetting the engine and causing the death of the engineer. Several others were wounded.

Pollard Arraigned and Reprimanded.

RICHMOND, VA., January 20.—Mr. Pollard was arraigned before the House of Delegates, today, for breach of decorum on the 5th inst. He was, on motion, reprimanded by the Speaker, and discharged.

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES BY THE WAR.

The Quartermaster General is literally overwhelmed with letters from parties residing in the late rebellious States claiming, praying and, in many cases, demanding compensation for damages inflicted on their property by the United States troops during the rebellion. Thus far he has flatly refused to consider any claims, even those put in by thoroughly loyal persons, for rents of property used by our forces in rebellious districts, and where the subordinate Quartermaster has given the proper vouchers.

The following decision, recently made by the Quartermaster's Bureau, in regard to the claim of a man of undoubted loyalty, residing in Winchester, Virginia, may be considered as applicable to all similar claims against the Government. The Quartermaster General says: Winchester was a hostile town, captured from an enemy who did not surrender on terms but were driven out by force of arms. Everything in it was prize of war. As at Atlanta and Charleston, buildings were occupied for shelter of troops, and for sick and wounded soldiers. It does not appear that the Military Department should order the payment of any costs under such circumstances. This decision was made in a case where vouchers had been given by order of a commanding General for the use of a blacksmith shop and tools, which were not seized for public use until three months after a final occupation of Winchester by our troops.

DECISION IN REGARD TO BOUNTIES.

The following decision of the First Comptroller of the Treasury is of importance to soldiers claiming bounty:

A man obtaining bounty under a contract of enlistment which he is either unable or unwilling to fulfill obtains it fraudulently, and is not entitled to it. If paid by the United States, the money paid rightfully belongs to the Government; if paid by local authority, it rightfully belongs to it, unless such local authority was by the fraudulent enlistment credited with a recruit on account of their quota; in which case even local bounties belong rightfully to the United States, as it incurs the expense of supporting the recruit while nominally attached to the army, and loses the benefit of services which the local authority was bound to furnish, and from which it had been exonorated by the fraudulent enlistment of an invalid or incompetent recruit. Only in case it be proven that the records on the muster-in and muster-out rolls are false, or that the money deposited with the paymaster by the recruit was not received by him as bounty, can it be refunded to the soldier.

INVESTIGATION BY THE RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE.

Colonel J. W. Shaffer, late Chief of General Butler's Staff, who has recently returned from a two months tour through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana, an account of which was published specially in these dispatches, has been requested by the Reconstruction Committee to give them the benefit of his observations in those States. Colonel Shaffer will meet the committee to-morrow. Several newspaper correspondents who have traveled through the South have also been requested to appear before the committee.

ISSUES OF CURRENCY.

During the week ending yesterday, $2,929,890 in National bank currency was issued by the Treasury to the banks, making the total now in circulation $245,866,570.

ANOTHER MUSTER OUT

Of Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons of volunteers, was ordered by the War Department yesterday.

DISBURSEMENT REGULATIONS.

The Secretary of War has ordered that hereafter when disbursing, officers, in payments of accounts, draw checks or drafts on funds placed to their credit, with assistant Treasurers or other depositors of the United States, they will note upon the receipt taken for such pay, the number, date and amount of such check or draft given in payment, and designate the Assistant Treasurer or Depository upon whom it is drawn.

PRESIDENT WILL SIGN THE SUFFRAGE BILL.

President Johnson in the course of conversation yesterday, said that he would sign the bill enfranchising the negroes of the District as soon as it was passed.

NEW YORK AND WASHINGTON AIR LINE RAIL ROAD.

The Special Committee of seven on the proposed Air Line Railroad between Washington and New York adjourned yesterday in order to receive the opinions and suggestions of a number of prominent railroad directors who have been requested to appear before them.

THE COLORED PEOPLE OF THE DISTRICT

Have subscribed for ten thousand copies of Hon. George W. Julian's speech on the question of suffrage as being the one which, in their opinion, most fully meets the case as presented here.

A NEW HOMESTEAD BILL.

The Committee on Public Lands has instructed its Chairman to report a bill extending the provisions of the homestead bill to the public lands in the South, and limiting the number of acres exempted to eighty, and stopping the sales of lands in those States. The object of the bill is to prevent speculators from obtaining control of large tracts of land.

CLAIMS OF GUNBOAT PILOTS.

The House Committee on Naval Affairs having had before them the memorials of certain Mississippi river gunboat pilots, praying that they shall be deemed to have been officers within the terms of rules and regulations of the service on that subject, and entitled to the same extra pay and rations as other officers in the same service, whose monthly compensation was the same, submit the following report: That any further or new legislation on the subject is inexpedient, and the Committee find on investigation that a very large proportion of persons intended to be benefitted by further legislation, were and are now living in States lately in rebellion, and were, prior to the late war, engaged in piloting vessels in the rebel service in those States, and were, in many instances, forced into the service of piloting war vessels of the United States against their wishes, although they were generally out of employment. The Committee also find that it is not just or expedient to class such persons with those officers of the navy who volunteered their services in behalf of the Government, and they submit that if there are any exceptions to the rules above stated, such cases can only be reached by special legislation. The Committee also find that all persons employed in the service specified have been as well paid by the Government as they were before, or have been since in civil service, and that, so far from having been injuriously affected by it, their business was generally increased, and in many instances they have been materially benefitted.

MONTANA GOLD MINES.

The Hon. Sidney Edgeston, Governor of Montana Territory, who is now here, reports that during the past year there was taken from the mines of that Territory, over sixteen million dollars, on which one million dollars revenue tax was paid. He says that hitherto, gold has been mostly obtained by placer mining, but, more recently, extensive mills have been erected for crushing quartz, all of which are paying. He states, also, the population of the territory at thirty thousand.

RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE.

Thorough Investigation to be Made.

DUTIES ON MANUFACTURES.

Suffrage Bill in the Senate.

A RADICAL AMENDMENT PROPOSED.

Capture of Bagdad Disaproved.

Etc., Etc., Etc.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.
WASHINGTON, January 21, 1865.

THE RECONSTRUCTION COMMITTEE.

The Reconstruction Committee is now fully organized, and has began its work. The members found, after a thorough inquiry respecting matters, that it would be impossible for the whole Committee to make the required or advisable examination of all the States lately in rebellion, and it has, therefore, been divided into four sub-committees. Each of these sub-committees has a Senator at its head, and is assigned to the duty of making the necessary examination in regard to two or three States, and it is understood that their reports will be made directly to the two Houses of Congress, while the Committee, as a whole, will make a separate report, with recommendations.

Two of the sub-committees, at last, have begun the examination of witnesses. Several gentlemen who have made journeys of greater or less length during the last six months in the South have already been summoned to appear before one or another sub-committee, and others have been directed to hold themselves in readiness to appear when wanted. There are indications that the case of Tennessee will be the first reported upon, but there is no probability of an immediate report even in respect to that State.

With respect to the other States, it need only be said that the examination will be thorough enough to keep them on probation for some months to come. The witnesses called before the sub-committees will not be wholly Northerners or temporary residents of the South, but will embrace persons of all classes, thoroughly identified with the States in which they live. This rule will be followed even in respect to a State so far away as Texas, from which witnesses will be summoned at an early day.

RATE AND AMOUNT OF DUTIES ON IMPORTS.

Statistics now in course of preparation at the Treasury Department for transmission to Congress show that the average duties upon various manufactures of common goods imported into this country during the years 1863 and 1864 were thirty-six per cent.; upon woolens, thirty-eight and a half per cent.; upon silks, thirty-seven per cent.; upon hemp and flax, thirty-three and a half, and upon iron and steel, thirty-seven and a half per cent. In 1865 the duties on cotton were raised to forty per cent.; on woolens to fifty-two; on silk to sixty; on hemp and flax to thirty-eight and a half, and on iron and steel to forty-one per cent.

In the last year the Government has received less customs than in either of the two previous years, on account of the falling off in the importation of the articles enumerated, the revenues on the total of the imports having fallen off from thirty-five millions of dollars in 1864 to twenty-seven millions in 1865. It is also discovered that the protection on these manufactures, afforded by the present rate of tariff is reduced quite as low by the charges of the excise duties upon them at home as it was before the war.

THE SUFFRAGE BILL IN THE SENATE.

While there is no question as to the ultimate passage by the Senate, of the Negro Suffrage bill, there is a probability that it will be amended by that body so as to make any interference in the election punishable with heavy fines. Several of the Radical Senators express their determination to unite upon the adoption of such a clause in the District registry law.

NECESSITY OF THE MEASURE.

One of the best arguments in favor of the immediate passage of the suffrage bill by Congress is contained in the fact that the Georgetown, District of Columbia, Councils at their weekly meeting on Thursday last, elected as Town Surveyor a man who served in the rebel army during the war, and who has not yet been pardoned. This rebel received ten out of the fourteen votes cast, while two good Union men who were running against him, received only two votes each.

BULLION IN THE TREASURY.

The amount of bullion in the Treasury on Saturday was about forty-seven millions.

THE CAPTURE OF BAGDAD.

The Government, up to yesterday, had not received any official intelligence in relation to the reported capture of Bagdad, Mexico, by the negro fillibusters. Immediately upon the receipt of the report here, General Sheridan was telegraphed to investigate the matter and to summarily punish all engaged in the unlawful enterprise. It is reported that the French Minister has addressed a note to Secretary Seward, requesting him to communicate to the French Legation, the earliest official information in relation to the affair, which may be received by our Government.

DISCHARGE OF DESERTERS.

The War Department has instructed General McDowell, commanding the California Department, to immediately release all deserters from the volunteer organizations imprisoned in his Department, and to furnish them with transportation to the headquarters of the chief mustering officer of their respective States, who will furnish them with a discharge and such other papers as they may be entitled to. In cases where no pay is due transportation will be furnished them to their homes.

PETITION FOR THE PARDON OF EX-REBEL SECRETARY CAMPBELL.

A petition, numerously signed by copperhead members of the bar throughout the country, praying for the pardon of James A. Campbell, late Assistant Secretary of the rebel Confederacy, will be presented to the President to-morrow. Campbell, it will be remembered, left his seat on the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States to join the rebellion.

PAYMENT OF TROOPS.

Paymasters will leave here to-morrow for North Carolina, to pay off the troops still remaining in the service in that Department. This completes the payment of the whole army up till the 31st of December. The force in North Carolina now, consists of two white and one colored regiment of Volunteers, and two or three regular artillery companies.

PREPAYMENT OF NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

The Post Office Committee, of the House have under consideration that section of the post office bill, which provides for the prepayment of postage upon newspapers at the publication offices. The Postmaster General and other officials of that department favor it, and the Committee is about equally divided. They will probably report in favor of it, however.

THE MEXICAN EMPIRE.

Several French officers of high rank, direct from Maximilian's capital, passed through Washington to-day, en route to Paris. They give a rose-colored account of Maximilian's prospects in Mexico, and report the number of French veterans in that country at twenty-five thousand, which force they claim will be equal to meet all emergencies likely to occur within the next six months.

PETITION AGAINST PARDON OF DAVIS.

A petition signed by Gov. Butler and the State officers of Indiana and ten thousand citizens of that State, against the pardon of Jeff Davis, was presented to the President yesterday, by speaker Colfax. Mr. Johnson took the petition and with a smile saying, "I'll lay it beside this bundle," pointing to an immense pile of manuscript which is just as large a petition for his pardon.

NEW BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The probabilities are that the Reconstruction Committee will to-morrow make a report to both branches of Congress, and that the joint report that comes from them will be proposing an amendment to the Constitution relative to representation.

FORTY-THREE RECONSTRUCTION SPEECHES.

Speaker Colfax has down on his list, the names of forty-three members who desire to speak on the reconstruction question.

THE SUPREME COURT

Has now before it, the case of the City of Cincinnati vs. Edwin D. Morgan and others. It is an appeal from the court of the Southern District of Ohio, and grows out of a loan, by the city, in 1860, of six hundred thousand dollars, to the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad. The issue is as to the priority of the lien. The argument began yesterday, and will be continued on Monday.

OIL REFINERY BURNED.

Loss About $15,000.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.
RENO, PA., January 20.

Lockwood's Refinery, in this place, was burned last night, together with about four hundred barrels refined oil. Loss, about fifteen thousand dollars.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

The London Times refers to the satisfactory aspect of English affairs, and trusts the prospects of a lasting peace will have some effect on the military administration of the European Powers, and that there will be some alleviation of those burdens, which everywhere weigh so heavily. The Times anticipates that by next January the Emperor Napoleon will have withdrawn his French troops from Mexico as well as from Rome.

Mazini is dangerously ill in London.

The cattle disease is again increasing.

A railway train containing the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and lady, was fired at by some unknown person, near Mellinger. The driver of the engine had a narrow escape.

Two young men, named Henry Wilson and John Clewn, said to have lately returned from America, have been arrested for Fenianism. Arms, ammunition and treasonable documents are said to have been found on them.

The Army and Navy Gazette, referring to its announcement last week of reductions in the army, says: At present what is actually decided upon, is that each battalion in the United Kingdom shall be reduced from twelve to ten companies, and regiments abroad will be reduced in like manner on their return home.

Mr. Bright's reform speech at Rockdale is universally regarded by the press as a modification of his reform demand and as indicating that he is prepared to accept such moderate measures as the Cabinet may be expected to propose. His political enemies credit him with being far less offensive than in any of his previous speeches.

The Special Commission for the trial of Fenians, resumed its sittings at Dublin, on the 5th inst.

FRANCE.—Weekly returns of the Bank of France, show a decrease, in the cash on hand, of twenty-five millions of francs. The Bank of France on the 4th advanced its rate of discount one per cent, making it five per cent.

The Senate and Corps Legislatif have been summoned to assemble on the 22d of January. It is stated that the opposition deputies held a meeting at Paris to consider their course of procedure in the approaching session, and that they decided to direct their efforts chiefly to the Mexican question.

JAPAN.—The Mikado, of Japan, has given formal sanction to the ratification of the treaty for opening the ports of Ossaca and Riago, and they are to be opened on the 1st of January, upon the terms of the existing tariff at the other open ports.

London money market.—No withstanding the advance in the bank rate to 8 per cent., the demand continued of a dull character.

The Times' city article attributes the condition of the London money market to the unlimited consignments of goods on credit to America without any proportionate returns, either in bullion or produce. English funds are rather steadier. Barings Brothers' Circular says: American Securities, in common with all others, are depressed.

LATEST VIA QUEENSTOWN, Jan. 7th.—The military revolt in Spain is not extensive. It is reported that General Prim commands the insurgents.

Liverpool, Jan. 6th.—Cotton; the regular weekly report of the cotton importation was forwarded by the Nova Scotia.

Manchester market inactive; prices tend downward. Breadstuffs dull, and still declining. Wakefield, Nash & Co., and Richardson, Spence & Co., report flour dull and nominal. Wheat, very dull, and 2d lower; winter red at 10s 4d@10s 6d. Corn inactive at 29s@29s 6d, for mixed. Provisions dull.

Bigland, Athaya & Co., and Gordon, Bruce & Co., report bacon flat. Beef, steady. Pork, no sales. Lard, inactive at 6s.@6s.10d. Butter, quiet and steady.

The Broker's Circular reports sugar easier and 6d. lower. Coffee, firm.

Boult, English & Co., report petroleum quiet at 2s.9d.@2s.11d. for refined.

London.—Baring's Circular reports wheat dull and 10s. lower. Flour, scarce; American 27s. Sugar inactive and partially 1s. lower. Tea tending downward. Petroleum quiet at 3s.4d. for refined.

Liverpool, Jan. 6.—Cotton quiet with a downward tendency; sales to-day, 8,000 bales, including 2,000 bales to speculators and exporters.

Breadstuffs very dull. Provisions quiet.

London, Jan. 6.—Consols for money, 87@87⅛; U. S. Five Twenties, 64¼; Erie shares, 56½@57; Illinois Central, 76¾@77¼.

XXXIXth CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, January 20, 1866.

SENATE.

A joint resolution extending the time for the completion of the Burlington and Missouri Railroad was passed.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, called up the bill authorizing the President, instead of the Secretary of the Interior, to appoint pension agents and name the boundary of the pension districts.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, was opposed to the bill. He believed that there was no necessity for passing it, because the National banks would distribute pension money for the use of the deposits. He asked time to bring in a substitute with this provision.

The bill was read three times and passed without amendment.

On motion of Mr. Fessenden, the House bill making appropriations for the year ending June, 1867, was taken up and passed.

Mr. Stewart asked leave to call up the bill for the admission of Colorado.

Mr. Sumner hoped that this would not be done, as he had an amendment to offer.

Mr. Stewart gave notice that he would call up the bill on Wednesday next.

Mr. Trumbull called up the bill to enlarge the powers of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Mr. Cowan moved to amend by restricting the operations of the Bureau to the States lately in rebellion.

Mr. Trumbull said that this would have the effect of excluding Kentucky, Missouri, Delaware and Maryland, where there were many emancipated slaves who needed the protection of the Bureau.

Mr. Guthrie said there was no reason why Kentucky should be included in the bill. Kentucky did not want the relief proposed. The freedmen were a part of the population, and would be cared for as such. He believed the States themselves could take care of the freedmen much better than the Freedmen's Bureaus. The bill before the Senate was providing for lazzaroni throughout the Southern States, and Kentucky would have no such in her borders. The bill before the Senate could not be intended as a matter of economy. If that was the object, it could better have been accomplished by the immediate admission of the Southern States.

He did not understand what the gentlemen meant when they said that the war was not over. There had been no hostile forces in the field for seven months. In May last the President issued an amnesty proclamation, looking to peace and Union. This had been looked upon as too lenient to the south, but he was sorry that the President had not gone further. As it was, there were thirty-five thousand exceptions to the proclamation, and among them all the misfortunes of the war would be distributed. The south lost ten thousand millions of dollars worth of property in the war, and he thought they deserved it as a consequence of engaging in the war, but was not that punishment enough?

In conclusion, he said there was no reason, in the world, why Congress should send officers of the Freedmen's Bureau to regulate relations between the citizens and freedmen of Kentucky. He was sorry to see the spirit that was manifested in Congress toward the Southern people, for he believed these people were honest and sincere in their professions of willingness and anxiety to return to the Union.

Mr. Pomeroy was glad to hear from Mr. Guthrie, an admission that the constitutional amendment rendered null and void, all slave codes and laws relating to slavery.

Mr. Guthrie said that was his opinion, and also that of a very able lawyer, of Lexington, from whom he had received a letter on the subject.

Mr. Pomeroy continued his remarks, stating that he would do nothing to the Southern States for revenge, but only for security in the future.

Pending the discussion, the Senate adjourned.

Currency Cancelled—New Counterfeit.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Since August last the Treasury Department has destroyed, by burning, over forty-eight millions of dollars worth of mutilated and cancelled notes of all kinds, and ten millions additional will soon be added to the sum. The Department has discovered that there is another new counterfeit of the twenty-five cent note. The sum of seven dollars has just been returned to the Department through the confessional, as a matter of conscience. Such cases, which occur occasionally, are only for small sums.

THE FRENCH EMPEROR'S POLICY.

Views of the Mexican Minister.

FENIAN CONGRESS TO MEET AT PITTSBURGH

Etc., Etc., Etc.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Commercial's Washington special says: Romero, the Minister from the Republic of Mexico; refuses to credit the reports of the withdrawal of the French troop from Mexico. He bases his opinion upon the fact that the Imperialists are preparing a vigorous campaign in Northern Mexico, which is the stronghold of the Republic in that country, in order to crush opposition and also to interpose an army between the United States and Mexico. The reports of the withdrawal of the French are based upon unofficial statements in the newspapers, circulated, he alleges, for the purpose of misleading public opinion in this country. Romero asserts that Louis Napoleon is intent upon a scheme of territorial aggrandizement; that he has counted the cost and will only withdraw when compelled by force, or the entire submission of Mexico to his agent Maximilian.

A dispatch from Washington says: General Howard has just received the consolidated report of all the colored schools under the control of the Freedmen's Bureau, which shows there are at present six hundred and thirty-one schools with one thousand two hundred and sixty teachers, and sixty-five thousand eight hundred and thirty-four scholars, in the Southern States under the direction of the Freedmen's Bureau. Application was made to the bureau yesterday for one hundred colored laborers to work on the railroad in Maryland. The requisition will be promptly filled.

Another dispatch says: Gov. Aiken of South Carolina, arrived yesterday. He says the negroes are doing nothing and the new crop is likely to be entirely a failure, unless something is done to compel the negroes to work. He has been appointed to lay the matter before the President and General Grant, and see if some means cannot be devised to remedy the difficulty.

The Fenian Senate met his morning. President Roberts has approved of the resolution calling a Congress of the Brotherhood to meet at Pittsburgh on the 19th of February.

A Charleston dispatch, dated 18th, says:—Hilton & Co., of this city, suspended payments yesterday. Communication between here and Columbia by railroad, has been re-opened and trains passed over yesterday for the first time since the advent of Sherman's army.—The steamers City of Baltimore, Prussia, Arago and Louisiana sailed to-day for Europe, taking $896,000 in specie.

Additional advices from Panama say the Chilian fleet had returned to one of the Southern forts, coaled, received supplies, and sailed for another expedition. The Government had made arrangements for a loan from the banks of the Republic.

In Peru President Prado was pushing forward his schemes of reform and war preparations vigorously.

The Peruvian Government had not yet formed a coalition with Chili against Spain, but the general expectation was that it would soon do so.

In the session of the Fenian Senate to-day one of the officers of the brotherhood, who recently returned from Ireland, where he drilled thousands of people, says if pecuniary encouragement had been given to the movement there, a series of battles, for Irish independence, would have been fought during the summer. The charges against Messrs Surrat, Meany and Mullen, for repudiating the constitution, have not yet been presented. Several of the returned officers, say they had interviews with Stephens, who was not pleased at the conduct of O'Mahony.

DISPATCHES FROM GEN. SHERIDAN.

His Opinion of the Bagdad Affair

Correspondence Between Gens. Weitzel and Mejia.

GEN. MEJIA TO BE SUPERSEDED

Statement of Affairs in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The Herald's Washington special says telegraphic dispatches of the 18th inst. from Gen. Sheridan, at New Orleans, disavow all knowledge on his part of the fillibustering attack on Bagdad, and states that his orders to subordinate officers have been to preserve a strict neutrality. He disbelieves the popular account of the affair and considers it a sensational story.

A Brownsville correspondent gives the full official correspondence between General Weitzel, and General Mejia, (Imperial commander at Matamoras,) and General Crawford the American General, of the Mexican Republican army, in relation to the Republican prisoners condemned to be shot, at Matamoras, in accordance with Maximilian's decree for the execution of all those found in arms against his forces. General Weitzel, in the name of his government, protested against this barbarity, and Mejia responded that it was a matter in which the Americans had no right to interfere, and that the execution of the decree must be proceeded with.

To another letter to General Weitzel in which in accordance with General Sheridan's instructions he informed Mejia that in future correspondence with our officers he must not style the Mexican republic as bandits. The Imperial General again repels what he considers foreign declaration, and repeats that all future communications of similar purport will remain unanswered.

It is rumored that Mejia is to be superseded at Matamoras.

The preparations of Generals Escabodo and Crawford for another attack upon Matamoras continued, but the Imperialists have greatly strengthened its defenses since the previous assault. The latter officer's efforts to raise men in Texas for Juarez do not seem to meet with success. It is suspected that Crawford has a nice financial speculation in his eye, which can be greatly subserved by the capture of Matamoras, and which is thought to be much dearer to him than the Mexican republic.

The Imperialists are reported to be preparing for a new and vigorous campaign in the north.

A statement of affairs in Mexico, prepared by the Imperialists for circulation in Europe, and depicting a firm and flourishing condition of matters under Maximilian's rule, represents that the Republican military force have nearly disappeared, and that the remnants of armed opposition to the Imperialists which still exist, have degenerated into mere predatory bands of robbers, and that order and civilization are being rapidly established throughout the country under the benign sway of the Emperor.

On investigation by the Provost Marshal into the attempt to capture the Imperial gunboat at Leree, near Matamoras, reveals the same facts as heretofore published.

Capt. Nelson Plato, formerly acting Chief Quartermaster of the Army of the James, has been appointed Supervising Quartermaster of the Rio Grande.

Capt. W. H. D. Cochrane, formerly of the 18th corps, has been appointed Depot Quartermaster at Brazos.

DENSE FOG IN NEW YORK.

AFFAIRS IN VIRGINIA.

NEW YORK, January 20.—A dense fog over hangs the water and city this morning.

Yesterday, Ed. O'Brien was arraigned in the Essex county court of Oyer and Terminer, and plead not guilty to two indictments for manslaughter in causing the death of Mr. Gordon and a boy at the time of the recent railroad disaster at Newark.

The cashier of the Farmers' and Citizen' Bank of Brooklyn, modifies the statement that his messenger boy was robbed of seventy thousand dollars in checks. It was seven thousand, making the amount stolen eighteen thousand dollars.

The World's Richmond special says that Virginia is, to-day, as quiet as the State of New York or Massachusetts, and the people, white or black, are suffering from nothing but poverty. All the insinuations about the virulent antagonism between the whites and blacks, all the hideous assertions to negro insurrection as the result of the oppressive measures of the whites, towards the blacks, are all sheer, wicked invectum.

Gentlemen from the interior declare that never were the negroes more quietly disposed towards those who were their former masters, and never were the latter more kindly disposed towards those who were so lately dependent upon them. The negroes are gradually giving up all notion of the millenium that was to come with New Year's day, and are rapidly seeking and obtaining work quite as rapidly as the impoverished landlords are able to employ and pay them.

From Mexico—Juarez Driven Back to El Paso.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Official news from El Paso, Mexico, up to the 22d of December, are received. The French marched in great force against the city of Chiauhua, and the Mexican Government had to abandon it on the 9th.

President Juarez left Chihuahua with his cabinet and his army, and came to El Paso, arriving there on the 18th.

The French occupied Chihuahua on the 11th of that month. The Mexican forces, under Gen. Jerrezas, remained five miles from Chihuahua, awaiting the French. President Jaurez was very well received by the people et El Paso. The news from the interior is represented as very good for the national cause.

Steamers Arrived.

NEW YORK, January 20.—The steamer City of New York, from Liverpool, and Hansa, from Bremen, have arrived. Both were anticipated.

FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Loss Half a Million Dollars.

POLICE GAZETTE AND A. T. STEWART.

Canadian Affairs in General.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The storage warehouse of Miller & Conger Nos. 248 and 249 South street and 483 and 485 Coates street, between Pike and Rutger streets, was destroyed by fire last night. Loss about half a million. The building contained cotton, hay, rags sugar and iron. It was owned by various parties.

Report says the steamer which has been fitting out here for some time, has gone to sea as a Chilian privateer to prey upon Spanish commerce. Three gun boats are also said to be building for the Chilian government.

John A. Cooke, late Cashier of the Catskill N. Y., National Bank, is reported a defaulter to the amount of about two thousand dollars. The directors of the Bank, it is added, have obtained collateral securities enough to cover the defalcation.

Mr. A. T. Stewart is the party upon whose affidavit the publishers of the Police Gazette were arrested yesterday. He charges them with a gross and malicious libel in the last issue of their paper, a sensation article, purporting to give the particulars of the sudden disappearance of a Broad street broker and a lady recently found drowned in the French Theatre in this city.

The Herald's Montreal dispatch says: The ice bridge on the St. Lawrence has formed at all points, has led the commander, Sir J. Mitchell to look after state of the forts. That at Prescott has had new guns placed and four heavy Armstrong guns are being placed in the battery at Quebec.

A great quantity of lumber is changing hands at Ottawa, that it may go free into the United States, while the treaty is in force. A Boston firm is making terms for the carriage of three thousand car loads before the 17th of March.

The Herald's Toronto special says the Canadian trade reviews profess to know that the United States Government has consented to renew the Reciprocity Treaty, if Canada will raise the provisional excise duties to the American standard, admit certain manufactures free, and enlarge other canals, the United States bearing part of the expense. The whole matter to be arranged by the respective Legislatures without a treaty.

Captain S. S. Smith, ex-confederate officer, is under arrest at Toronto on a charge of robbing an old man of four thousand dollars in United States bonds, at Windsor, where Smith keeps a hotel.

MAXIMILIAN BECOMING FRIENDLY.

Ancient Mexican City Discovered.

ENGLISH AND AMERICAN FINANCES.

NEW YORK, January 21.—A letter from the city of Mexico says that in order to guard against the depredations of guerrillas Maximilian has the entire road, from Vera Cruz to the capital, patroled by a military police, and though the force is not very numerous, it is said to answer the purpose very well.

It is related of Maximilian that, in a recent convention he maintained that President Johnson and he are, by position, as well as by interest, natural allies. If he helps me, said the Emperor, I will help him, and so we will raise this Continent to such a degree of prosperity and greatness that we shall soon be able to dictate to the rest of the world, England included.

The exploring party sent by Maximilian to the interior of Mexico, found in the midst of a large forest, the ruins of a city built long before the time of Cortez. This city is of considerable extent, having its streets paved with polished stone. Many fine specimens of architecture were discovered.

Later South American advices say, that a communication had been sent from President Lopez, of Paraguay, to General Mitre, leader of the Argentine forces, which was, generally supposed to contain proposals for cessation of war between Paraguay on one side, and Brazil, the Argentine Confederation and Uruguay on the other, though some suspect it was merely a trick of Lopez to obtain information of the movements of the allies.

The land forces of the latter were still pressing after the retreating Paraguayans, and others reported that their advance had reached Prina. Five steamers of the Brazilian fleet had pushed up the river nearly to Corrientes on the 21st of November, and reinforcements for the Brazilians were hurrying forward to the scene of war.

The London Times of December 29th, in an article on finances, urges the English Government to relieve the people from the payment of the National debt in four hundred years, and study American views. It says the United States Government believes it can liquidate its debt not in four hundred years but in thirty years. Should the United States find themselves clear of debt at the end of this century, and should we, on the contrary, find that we have only lowered our debt by seventy millions, leaving it still seven hundred and thirty million pounds, the contrast will be strong, and the Americans in the event of a collision between the old and new country, would have the advantage of a heavy burden of debt, proved to be possible of payment, and the latter without clear of debt altogether. That is a question which will be fully discussed in American public opinion and feeling. We might be able to stand reproach, hard as it has been upon American repudiators, but it would be another thing if Americans think themselves vastly richer and stronger, and more likely to come well out of a fresh war.

MATTER FOR CONGRATULATION.

The action of the House of Representatives, in passing the Suffrage Bill for the District of Columbia furnishes matter for congratulation in two particulars.

1. The bill is clearly right in itself. To pretend to give the blacks liberty, and yet deny them the ballot, is simply to render the boon comparatively valueless, because of little effect. It is impossible for the blacks to maintain their rights unless they have the ballot in their hands. The ballot will not so much enable them to govern others, as it will arm them with a potent instrument for self protection.

All through the war the blacks of the District evinced a loyalty far superior to that manifested by their white neighbors. None of them sought service in the Confederate armies, while at least a score of them entered the Union army for each individual among the white inhabitants of the District.

If the Conservatives insist on qualified suffrage; that is, suffrage based on a given degree of education or property, and this, not for one race, but for all races; let them bring forward their scheme. It may have points that will commend it to acceptance.

2. A distinct assertion by Congress, in this form, of its function, as the law-making power of the nation, was greatly needed. It had become so common, in conservative circles, to speak of Congress, not in distinct terms, but by implication, as a surplussage in the government, so far, especially, as related to the work of reconstruction, that a marked and sharp exercise of its authority was demanded. The country rejoices that Congress has not consented to sink into the insignificant position of a facile registrar of pre-arranged decrees.

GRIEF AND ITS RECOMPENSE.

The National Intelligencer, in its old age, has come to grief. It is afflicted, by the passage through the House of Representatives, of "the bill for negro suffrage, in the District of Columbia." Its affliction arises from two considerations. 1. That the bill "is opposed to the decidedly expressed will of the people of the District." 2. That it "is opposed to the well-known views of the President of the United States."

Now, we recollect that the white inhabitants of the District, almost all of whom are either rebels or secession sympathisers, voted almost unanimously that their black fellow citizens should not have the right of suffrage. They voted that way as much to spite the blacks for their loyalty as to continue to degrade them because of their color. But the blacks comprise a large share of the "people of the District;" and their loyalty commends their case to the consideration of Congress.

It may be the President differs from Congress on this matter, and that his views are well-known. But we confess we do not know when and where he has proclaimed his opinions relative to this topic. Whatever his views may be, he has a clear right to them, and to base his official action on them. So Congress has a right to its opinions and to act squarely up to them.

But our contemporary has a compensation in its grief. The people, it fancies, will teach their Representatives better manners. Indeed, it has discovered the commencement of the process. The democrats of Allegheny, in County Convention assembled, passed some resolutions, to this end, among others. Messrs. MOORHEAD and WILLIAMS will now see what peril they are in. They have not earned the commendation of the democratic party; and in order to do so must change their style of voting. It will take, we think, a good many such censures to bring those gentlemen into a tractable frame of mind.

THE FRENCH IN MEXICO.

Of late, there have been numerous reports from Washington to the effect that the French Emperor had resolved to recall his troops from Mexico, in case he should not be compelled to an opposite course by such a pressure as would raise a point of honor. We see no reason to place reliance on these reports. So far from withdrawing regiments, fresh ones are constantly arriving from France.

Nor do we believe any more in the assertions, frequently ventured, that MAXIMILIAN seriously contemplates abdication. The condition of Mexico is that of chronic uncertainty and unrest. The people are accustomed to witness violent changes in the administration, and absolute revolution in the form of the government. A sense of insecurity oppresses them. A consciousness of instability leads them always to anticipate an overthrow of whatever government may exist. Beyond this, we do not see but MAXIMILIAN is having as satisfactory a time of it as any Mexican ruler for the last quarter of a century. In the central provinces he succeeds in maintaining order, and is exerting himself to improve the prospects of the inhabitants. Along the northern border there is the ordinary amount of disturbance. Mexican society would not know what was impending if the booming of cannon in actual war should cease.

PERSECUTION OF GEORGIA UNIONISTS.

A Washington dispatch says:

"A letter written by Hon. A. H. Stephens, late Vice President of the Southern Confedeacy, has been received here in Washington, in which he says that the original Union men of Georgia suffer greater persecution now on account of their sentiments, than they did during the days of the Confederacy."

A Georgia journal in addition to the above statement, represents Mr. STEPHENS as saying that he found Georgia in a worse condition, on his return home, than he expected. And Mr. STEPHENS' testimony is confirmed by a host of witnesses whose evidence it is impossible to doubt. There is proof potent, palpable, and universal, that the Union men of the South are doomed to be a persecuted, disgraced, ruined class, unless the nation interposes, and secures them against the political supremacy of rebels. The only way to do that is to establish universal suffrage. Give votes to the loyal men of the South without regard to color, and there will be no danger of "the political supremacy of the rebels."

FACING THE MUSIC.

A bill has been introduced into the Legislature to charter a company for the purpose of constructing a railroad from the coterminous boundary of Ohio and Pennsylvania, through the midland counties, to the Susquehanna river, at or near Northumberland. As we are informed, this bill has been brought forward, not under the belief that additional legislation is actually required for the consummation of this great enterprise, but to avoid all possible pretexts for litigation. Of course, attempts will be made to smother this bill in Committee, and, when it shall be reported, to defeat it. Let the people who are interested in the prosecution of this important work, carefully note events as they shall transpire in the Capitol. Eighteen counties are largely and directly concerned to have this measure passed. At least eighteen other counties would be much advantaged thereby. Who, among the members of the Legislature, will say that these counties shall not have this advantage!

THE Radicals had a field day in Congress yesterday, with Ben Wade in the Senate, and 116 votes for unqualified negro suffrage in the District of Columbia. The white citizens of Washington and Georgetown have remonstrated almost unanimously against this measure, but without effect. This is the way Congress interprets the consent of the people. The District of Columbia is just now filled with negroes from Virginia and the South, as thousands came there with the armies of Lee and Grant, and it is proposed to give the right of suffrage to this whole crowd of male persons? What a farce upon the Government? What a burlesque upon the alleged rights of the people? What a caricature upon a Republican form of Government.—N. Y. Express.

Our contemporary has a weakness. It is easily shocked. This almost unaccountable, considering how often it has been subjected to that sensation. Use ought to have hardened its nerves, and to have exempted it from the weight of so many inflictions.

The Express has got no farther than to insist that this is "a white man's government." But even that shows an improvement. Ten years ago it was as strenuously opposed to admitting all white men to participation in the government through the ballot-box, as it is now to allowing black men to vote. It insisted over and over again, with a heat that conservatives ought to avoid, that this is not "a white man's government," in the sense of including all the white inhabitants of the country. Only a certain class, it maintained, ought to be allowed to approach the ballot-box. There was a vehemence, a passion, a scurility, a bitterness in its invectives against large classes of white men that no radical ever approached on this side of the Atlantic. By degrees its rage subsided. It took a step in advance; consented to the doctrine that all white men, under uniform and liberal conditions, should have the right of suffrage; one of its proprietors sought and obtained a democratic nomination for a seat in Congress, and was elected mainly by the votes of the men he had persistently villified.

This shows that there is an element of progress in him and his journal. Who can tell but he may yet go so far as to take a seat in Congress mainly by negro votes? This is an age of progress, and in spite of themselves, the sturdiest conservatives jog along.

THE Harrisburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, in arguing the case of the railroad monopoly, says:

"Without this great work, in what condition would our State be at the present time? Cities, towns and villages have sprung up along its line; mills and manufactories have been erected on and near its track; thousands and tens of thousands have become wealthy from the facilities it affords alike to the manufacturer, the farmer and the tradesman: and an army of employees are kept busy morning, noon and night in transporting over its vast length our merchandise, agriculture and mineral products."

If this means anything it means that the towns and cities not on the line of the Pennsylvania road have no right to prosper, and that the right to build mills and manufactories shall not be extended to any other portion of the Commonwealth. Is this the ground of the friends of the monopoly?

But, aside from this, the special friends of the Pennsylvania road need not be alarmed. The construction of another line of road will not ruin that road. It will still have enough to do, and the towns and the cities, and the mills and factories that have sprung up along its track will still be as prosperous as ever. The only difference will be that other towns and cities and mills and factories will spring up elsewhere, not to the injury of those already existing, but to the manifest increase of the prosperity of the Commonwealth.

Those who choose to maintain that the resources of the State shall not be developed, and that there shall be no prosperity except within its borders, along the line of one particular road, are welcome to the task of defending such a monstrous proposition.

A DIFFERENCE.

A while ago the great name of Gen. GRANT was invoked on a question for the solution of which he had no special capabilities. That question related to the fittedness of the Southern people and States for restoration to their forfeited rights and franchises. He gave his opinion. Instantly, the conservatives, with whose plans this opinion coincided, claimed that it ought to make an end to all debate.

Quite recently Gen. GRANT has expressed his opinion on another point, strictly within the line of his profession, and on which he has high claims to consideration. He decides that it is unsafe to remove the national troops from the Southern States. The conservatives, at once, exhibit a marked dimunition of respect for his opinions.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

There is no lack of names in connection with the Union nomination for Governor. Indeed, the list from which the selection will be made, promises to be unusually full. Allegheny has presented the Hon. J. K. MOORHEAD, and appointed a very able and experienced delegation to urge his claims. Bedford and Franklin have instructed for the Hon. JOHN CESSNA. The Tioga Agitator and the Lancaster Examiner strongly urge the selection of Gen. JOHN W. GEARY. In some other quarters the Hon. H. C. JOHNSON, of Crawford, is named. The Luzerne delegates are instructed for the Hon. W. W. KETCHUM.

THE National Intelligencer says that "the first regiment, the first company, and the first soldier ever raised to defend the Union against the rebels were in the city of Washington, and were composed almost to a man of natives and old residents there, as the original rolls will show; the most active men in recruiting them being natives of this District and of Virginia." The Intelligencer might add that only one regiment was so raised and that it was raised for three months, the members of it eagerly accepting their release from military duty at the end of that short period.

IT must strike every one who reads the correspondence between our ministers in England and France and the foreign ministers in those countries, that while our ministers are courteous and respectful to a degree that might almost be characterized as fawning, the English and French Secretaries who reply to them both adopt a haughty, supercilious and overbearing tone. Suppose our ministers were to try the haughty, too? It certainly would be a relief to those compelled to read their correspondence, and we think the result would be good.

SOME days ago we intimated a suspicion that the democrats would this year blast Mr. CLYMER'S aspirations for their gubernatorial nomination, as they did three years. Facts since disclosed corroborate their opinion. The democrats of Dauphin county have instructed their delegates to support Gen. G. W. CASS. The General's chances are improving.

THE telegraphic dispatches for the last week have had Quantrell in Washington asking for pardon. On the 11th instant Gov. Crawford telegraphed to Senator Lane to know if it was true. The answer came next day as follows: "He is not here. I would kill him on sight.—J. H. LANE."—Topeka Record.

If QUANTRELL lives until LANE kills him, he is destined to a long life.

GEN. GEARY.—The Tioga county Agitator, an influential paper in Northern Pennsylvania, has declared in favor of General JOHN W. GEARY for Governor. Several other papers in the State squint in the same way, among them the Philadelphia Press.

THE Ohio Republican press, with rare exceptions, endorse and approve the Radical speech of Mr. SHELLABARGER, of the Columbus district, on the Reconstruction question. This shows how the wind blows in Ohio.

THE vote at the Republican primary meetings in Bedford county for Governor, was for CESSNA 847, JORDAN, 655. Mr. CESSNA carried fourteen districts, and Mr. JORDAN eight.

WOOL GROWERS' CONVENTION.

We direct attention to the call in to-day's paper for a Wool Growers' Convention, to meet in this city on the 8th of February next. This is a very important convention, and as a large number of people in the western part of this State are interested in wool-growing, we trust to see them fully represented in the proposed meeting. The objects the callers of this convention have in view are of the utmost importance to those engaged in wool-growing, and to make their action effective they should be backed up by the entire force of all the parties in interest.

THE Armstrong Democrat has changed its name to the Armstrong Republican. A. G. HENRY, formerly of the Beaver Argus, has become joint proprietor of it, and the paper presents a very handsome appearance.

Meeting of the Union State Central Committee—Time fixed for holding the Union State Convention.

The members of the Union State Central Committee, assembled in the city of Harrisburg, Friday, at 3 o'clock.

Hon. John Cessna, Chairman, called the Committee to order, and on the reading of the roll by A. K. Benedict, Secretary, a large number of gentlemen appeared as substitutes for the regular members of the Committee, which substitutions were unanimously accepted.

On motion of the Hon. L. W. Hall, of Blair county, it was

Resolved, That the time for holding the Union State Convention by fixed for the 7th day of March, 1866, at 12 o'clock noon, in the city of Harrisburg.

Several amendments were offered to this motion, one by Col. S. B. Thomas, of Delaware county, that the time be fixed for the 4th day of July; another by Gen. Ekin, of Allegheny county, that the Convention assemble on the 7th day of June.

These amendments were severally voted down, when,

On motion of Hon. George Connell, of Philadelphia, the original resolution, fixing the day for holding the State Convention on the 7th of March, was unanimously adopted.

A series of resolutions were then introduced, proposing to change the ratio of representation in Union State Conventions.

Hon. George Connell opposed these resolutions, on the ground that the State apportionment entirely controlled such representation; when

On motion of John A. Hiestand, of Lancaster City, the resolutions were laid on the table.

On motion, the Committee adjourned to meet at the call of the Chairman.

Mr. Doolittle's Speech.

Senator Doolittle and some other less conspicuous men, in discussing the reconstruction question, profess to believe that if the rebel communities are out of the Union, or if they are territories, Andrew Johnson must be an alien, and therefore not eligible to the Presidency. If they will read the Constitution of the United States, they will discover that the inhabitant of a territory may be eligible, and that the pretended argument they use is weak and deceptive. The "hifalutin" rhetoric based upon the supposed damage to the flag of the Union by the clipping out of a few of the thirty-six stars, is also fallacious and sophistical. Though less needlework may be necessary in making a flag under such circumstances, the same grand area will remain subject to the flag and every foot of soil now or at any time possessed by the Union will continue in Union occupation. These exhausting flights of eloquence about the flag and the American eagle are all "bosh." That much abused bird will be as much at home in South Carolina as a territory, as it ever was in South Carolina as a State and "more too." Then, when these communities come back, it will be with genuine and positive Unionism among their citizens, and it is to be hoped with a willingness to do justice to all their inhabitants.

It would be well for some of those who advocate the President's pain, and who declare that he has never failed to treat and regard the South as States in the Union, to come down from their spread eagle stilts, and to tell us, by what right, if this is so, he has dared to name a Provisional Governor for any State, or dictate to a State Convention what ordinances it shall pass, or demand of a State Legislature this or that enactment as a preliminary to allowing a Governor chosen by the people to take his oath of office. These objections are fatal to the whole scheme, and the scheme itself must be a failure.

From Tennessee there comes up a cry against the abandonment of that State to itself. The Union men ask a provisional government, a military government—anything but restoration on the President's plan; for under this plan the late rebel majority comes again into power to persecute and destroy those who have been opposed to them, and who profess some sort of affection for the Union. Suffrage for the blacks would help to solve this question.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

ENGLISH NEUTRALITY AGAIN.—The following communication relative to the war between Spain and Chili appears in an English newspaper. It needs no comment:

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 28, 1865.

"SIR:—We have been offered to-day a charter for a cargo of coals for the Spanish Government, to be delivered to their ships-of-war on the Chilian coast.

"Can you inform us if this is English neutrality, and how it is that the British Government has not issued a proclamation warning British ships from taking coals to either belligerents?

"We are, sir, your obedient servants,

"BRITISH SHIPOWNERS."

THE NEW AMERICAN NOVEL!

THE DEAD LETTER.

CHAPTER I.

THE LETTER.

I paused suddenly in my work. Over a year's experience in the Dead Letter office had given a mechanical rapidity to my movements in opening, noting, and classifying the contents of the bundles before me; and, so far from there being anything exciting to the curiosity, or interesting to the mind, in the employment, it was of the most monotonous character.

The letter which I held in my paralyzed fingers when they so abruptly ceased their dexterous movements, was contained in a closely-sealed envelope, yellowed by time, and directed in a peculiar hand to "John Owen," Peekskill, New York," and the date on the stamp was "October 18th, 1857"—making the letter two years old. I know not what magnetism passed from it, putting me, as the spiritualists say, en rapport with it; I had not yet cut the lappet; and the only thing I could fix upon as the cause of my attraction was, that at the date indicated in the envelope, I had been a resident of Blankville, twenty miles from Peekskill—and something about that date!

Yet, this was no excuse for my agitation; I was not of an inquisitive disposition; nor did "John Owen" belong to the circle of my acquaintance. I sat there with such a strange expression upon my face, that one of my fellows, remarking my mood exclaimed, jestingly:

"What is it, Redfield? A check for a hundred thousand?"

"I'm sure I don't know; I haven't opened it," I answered, at random; and with this I cut the wrapper, impelled by some strongly-defined, irresistible influence to read the time-stained sheet inclosed. It ran in this wise:

"DEAR SIR:—Its too bad to disappoint you. Could not execute your order, as everybody concerned will discover. What a charming day!—good for taking a picture. That old friend I introduced you to won't tell tales, and you had not better bother yourself to visit him. The next time you find yourself in his arms, don't feel in his left hand pocket for the broken tooth-pick which I lent him. He is well come to it. If you're at the place of payment, I shan't be there, not having fulfilled the order, and having given up my emigration project, much against my will; so govern yourself accordingly. Sorry your prospects are so poor, and believe me, with the greatest possible esteem,

"Your disappointed

"NEGOTIATOR."

To explain why this brief epistle, neither lucid nor interesting in itself, should affect me as it did, I must go back to the time at which it was written.

CHAPTER II.

EVENTS OF A NIGHT.

It was late in the afternoon of a cloudy, windy autumn day, that I left the office of John Argyll, Esq., in his company, to take tea and spend the evening in his family. I was a law student in the office, and was favored with more than ordinary kindness by him on account of a friendship which had existed between him and my deceased father. Although I did not board at his house, I was almost like a member of the family; there was always a place for me at his table, with liberty to come and go as I pleased. This being Saturday, I was expected to go home with him, and stay over Sunday if I liked.

We quickened our steps as a few large drops were sprinkled over us out of the darkening clouds.

"It will be a rainy night," said Mr. Argyll.

"It may clear away yet," I said, looking toward a rift in the west, through which the declining sun was pouring a crimson stream. He shook his head doubtfully; and we hurried up the steps into the house, to escape the threatened drenching.

Entering the parlors, we found no one but James, a nephew of Mr. Argyll, a young man of about my own age, lounging upon a sofa.

"Where are the girls?"

"They haven't descended from the heavenly regions yet, uncle."

"Dressing themselves to death, I expect—it's Saturday evening, I remember," smiled the indulgent father, passing on into the library.

I sat down by the west window, and looked out at the coming storm. I did not like James Argyll much, nor he me; so that, as much as we were thrown together, our intercourse continued constrained. On this occasion, however, he seemed in excellent spirits, persisting in talking on all kinds of indifferent subjects despite of my brief replies. I was wondering when Eleanor would make her appearance.

At last she came. I heard her silk dress rustle down the stairs, and my eyes were upon her when she entered the room. She was dressed with unusual care, and her face wore a brilliant, expectant smile. The smile was for neither of us. Perhaps James thought of it; I am sure I did, with secret suffering—with a sharp pang which I was ashamed of, and fought inwardly to conquer.

Presently she came to the window, and as she stood by my side, a burst of glory streamed through the fast-closing clouds, enveloping her in a golden atmosphere, tinting her black hair with purple, flushing her clear cheeks and the pearls about her throat. The fragrance of the rose she wore on her breast mingled with the light; for a moment I was thrilled and overpowered; but the dark-blue eyes were not looking on me—they were regarding the weather.

"How provoking that it should rain to-night," she said, and as the slight cloud of vexation swept over her face, the blackness of night closed over the gleam of sunset, so suddenly that we could hardly discern each other.

"The rain will not keep Moreland away," I answered.

"Of course not—but I don't want him to get wet walking up from the depot; and Billy has put up the carriage in view of the storm."

At that moment a wild gust of wind smote the house so that it shook, and the rain came down with a roar that was deafening. Eleanor rung for lights.

"We need not have troubled ourselves to wear our new dresses," pouted Mary, the younger sister, who had followed Eleanor down stairs; "there will be nobody here to-night."

Both James and myself objected to being dubbed nobody. The willful young beauty said all the gay things she pleased, telling us she certainly should not have worn her blue silk, nor puffed her hair for us—

"Nor for Henry Moreland either—he never looks at me after the first minute. Engaged people are so stupid. I wish he and Eleanor would make an end of it. If I'm ever going to be bride's-maid, I want to be—"

"And a clear field afterward, Miss Molly," jested her cousin. "Come! play that new polka for me."

"You couldn't hear it if I did. The rain is playing a polka this evening, and the wind is dancing to it."

He laughed loudly—more loudly than the idle fancy warranted.

"Let us see if we cannot make more noise than the storm," he said, going to the piano and thumping out the most thunderous piece that he could recall. I was not a musician, but it seemed to me there were more discords than the law of melody allowed; and Mary put her hands over her ears, and ran away to the other end of the room.

For the next half-hour the rain came down in wide sheets, flapping against the windows, as the wind flew hither and thither. James continued at the piano, and Eleanor moved restlessly about, stealing glances, now and then, at her tiny watch.

All at once there occurred one of those pauses which precede the fresh outbreaking of a storm. As if startled by the sudden lull, James Argyll paused in his playing. Just then the shrill whistle of the locomotive pierced the silence with more than usual power, as the evening train swept around the curve of the hill not a quarter of a mile away, and rushed on into the depot in the lower part of the village.

There is something unearthly in the scream of the "steam-eagle," especially when heard at night. He seems like a sentient thing, with a will of his own, unbending and irresistable; and his cry is threatening and defiant. This night it rose upon the storm prolonged and doleful. I know not how it sounded to the others, but to me, whose imagination was already wrought upon by the tempest and by presence of the woman I hopelessly loved, it came with an effect perfectly overwhelming; it filled the air, even the perfumed, lighted air of the parlor, full of a dismal wail. It threatened—I know not what. It warned against some strange, unseen disaster. Then it sunk into a hopeless cry, so full of mortal anguish that I involuntarily put my fingers to my ears. Perhaps James felt something of the same thing, for he started from the piano-stool, walked twice or thrice across the floor, then flung himself again upon the sofa, and for a long time sat with his eyes shaded, neither speaking nor moving.

Eleanor, with maiden artifice, took up a book, and composed herself to pretend to read; she would not have her lover to know that she had been so restless while awaiting his coming. Only Mary fluttered about like a humming bird, diving into the sweets of things, the music, the flowers, whatever had honey in it; and teasing me in the intervals.

I have said that I loved Eleanor. I did, secretly, in silence and regret, against my judgment and will, and because I could not help it. I was quite certain that James loved her also, and I felt sorry for him; sympathy was taught me by my own sufferings, though I had never felt attracted toward his character. He seemed to me to be rather sullen in temper, as well as selfish; and then again I reproached myself for uncharitableness; it might have been his circumstances which rendered him morose—he was dependent upon his uncle—and his unhappiness which made him appear unamiable.

I loved, without a particle of hope. Eleanor was engaged to a young gentleman in every way worthy of her: of fine demeanor, high social position, and unblemished moral character. As much as her many admirers may have envied Henry Moreland, they could not dislike him. To see the young couple together was to feel that theirs would be one of those "matches made in heaven"—in age, character, worldly circumstances, beauty and cultivation there was a rare correspondence.

Mr. Moreland was engaged with his father in a banking business in the city of New York. They owned a summer villa in Blankville, and it had been during his weeks of summer idleness here that he had made the acquaintance of Eleanor Argyll.

At this season of the year his business kept him in the city; but he was in the habit of coming out every Saturday afternoon and spending Sabbath at the house of Mr. Argyll, the marriage which was to terminate a betrothal of nearly two years being now not very far away. On her nineteenth birthday, which came in December, Eleanor was to be married.

Another half-hour passed away and the expected guest did not arrive. He usually reached the house in fifteen minutes after the arrival of the train; I could see that his betrothed was playing nervously with her watch chain though she kept her eyes fixed upon her book.

"Come, let us have tea; I am hungry," said Mr. Argyll, coming out of the library. "I had a long ride after dinner. No use waiting, Eleanor—he won't be here to-night"—he pinched her cheek to express his sympathy for her disappointment—"a little shower didn't use to keep beaux away when I was a boy. But it may have been raining down there half the day—the storm comes from that direction. James, are you asleep?"

"I'll soon see," cried Mary, pulling away the hand from her cousin's face—"why, James, what is the matter?"

Her question caused us all to look at him; his face was of an ashy paleness; his eyes burning like coals of fire.

"Nothing is the matter! I've been half asleep," he answered, laughing, and springing to his feet. "Molly, shall I have the honor?"—she took his offered arm, and we went into tea; after which went back to the parlor and passed a merry evening.

A touch of chagrin, a fear that we would suspect how deeply she was disappointed caused Eleanor to appear in unusually high spirits. She sung whatever I asked of her; she played some delicious music; she parried the wit of others with keener and brighter repartee. The roses bloomed on her cheeks; the stars rose in her eyes. It was not an altogether happy excitement; I knew that pride and loneliness were at the bottom of it; but it made her brilliantly beautiful.

James, too, was in an exultant mood.

It was late when we retired. I was in a state of mental activity which kept me awake for hours after. I never heard it rain as it did that night—the water seemed to come down in solid masses, and, occasionally, the wind shook the strong mansion as if it were a child. I could not sleep. There was something awful in the storm. If I had had a touch of superstition about me I should have said that spirits were abroad.

A healthy man, of a somewhat vivid imagination, but without nervousness, unknowing bodily fear, I was still affected strangely. I shuddered in my soft bed; the wild shriek of the locomotive lingered in my ears; something besides rain seemed beating at the windows. Ah, my God! I knew afterward what it was. It was a human soul, disembodied, lingering about the place on earth most dear to it. The rest of the household slept well, so far I could judge, by its silence and deep repose.

Toward morning I fell asleep. When I awoke the rain was over; the sun shone brightly; the ground was covered with gay autumn leaves shaken down by the wind and rain. The day promised well. I shook off the impressions of the darkness, dressed myself quickly, for the breakfast-bell had rung, and descending, joined the family of my host at the table. In the midst of our cheerful repast, the door-bell rung. The servant came in, saying that a man at the door wished to speak with Mr. Argyll and Mr. Redfield.

"He says it's important, and can't wait, sir."

We arose and went out into the hall, closing the door of the breakfast-room behind us.

"I'm very sorry—I've got bad news—I hope you won't"—stammered the messenger, a servant from the hotel.

"What is it?" demanded Mr. Argyll.

"The young gentleman that comes here—Moreland's his name, I believe—was found on the road this morning."

"Dead?"

"They want you to come down to the inquest. They've got him in a room of our house. They think it's a fit—there's no marks of anything."

The father and I looked at each other; the lips of both were quivering; we both thought of Eleanor.

"What shall I do?"

"I don't know, Mr. Argyll. I haven't had time to think."

"I can not—I can not—"

"Nor I—not just yet. Sarah, tell the young ladies we have gone out a short time on business—and don't you breathe what you have heard. Don't let any one in until we return—don't allow any one to see Miss Eleanor. Be prudent."

Her frightened face did not promise much for her discretion.

Hastening to the hotel, already surrounded by many people, we found the distressing message too true. Upon a lounge, in a private sitting-room, lay the body of Henry Moreland! The coroner and a couple of physicians had already arrived. It was their opinion that he had died from natural causes, as there was not the least evidence of violence to be seen. The face was as pleasant as in slumber; we could hardly believe him dead until we touched the icy forehead, about which the thick ringlets of brown hair clung, saturated with rain.

"What's this?" exclaimed one, as we began to relieve the corpse of its wet garments, for the purpose of a further examination. It was a stab in the back. Not a drop of blood—only a small triangular hole in the cloak, through the other clothing, into the body. The investigation soon revealed the nature of the death-wound; it had been given by a fine sharp dirk or stiletto. So firm and forcible had been the blow that it had pierced the lung and struck the rib with sufficient force to break the blade of the weapon, about three-quarters of an inch of which was found in the wound. Death must have been instantaneous. The victim had fallen forward upon his face, bleeding inwardly, which accounted for no blood having been at first perceived; and as he had fallen, so he had lain through all the drenching storm of that miserable night. When discovered by the first passer-by, after daylight, he was lying on the path, by the side of the street, which led up in the direction of Mr. Argyll's, his traveling bag by his side, his face on the ground. The bag was not touched, neither the watch and money on his person, making it evident that robbery was not the object of the murderer.

A stab in the back, in the double darkness of night and storm! What enemy had Henry Moreland, to do this deed upon him!

It is useless now to repeat all the varying conjectures rising in our minds, or which continued to engross the entire community for weeks thereafter.

While the inquest was proceeding, Mr. Argyll and myself were thinking more of Eleanor than of her murdered lover.

"This is wretched business, Richard," said the father. "I am so unnerved I can do nothing. Will you telegraph to his parents for me?"

His parents—here was more misery. I had not thought of them. I wrote out the dreadful message which it ought to have melted the wires with pity to carry.

"And now you must go to Eleanor. She must not hear it from strangers; and I can not—Richard!—you will tell her, will you not? I will follow you home, immediately. As soon as I have made arrangements to have poor Henry brought to our house when the inquest is over."

He wrung my hand, looking at me so beseechingly, that, loth as I was, I had no thought of refusing. I felt like one walking with frozen feet as I passed out of the chamber of horror into the peaceful sunlight, along the very path he had last trodden, and over the spot where he had fallen and had lain so many hours undiscovered, around which a crowd was pressing, disturbed, excited, but not noisy. The sandy soil had already filtered the rain, so as to be nearly dry; there was nothing to give a clue to the murderer's footsteps, whither he went or whence he came—what impress they might have made in the hard, gravelly walk had been washed out by the storm. A few persons were searching carefully for the weapon which had been the instrument of death, and which had been broken in the wound, thinking it might have been cast away in the vicinity.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, COUNTY OF ALLEGHENY, ss.—Whereas, ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the said Commonwealth, in the name and by the authority thereof, did, on the first day of December, A. D., 1865, issue a warrant under his hand and the great seal of the State, authorizing and requiring me, JOHN H. STEWART, High Sheriff of the County of Allegheny, to cause the sentence imposed upon a certain MARTHA GRINDER, on the 25th day of November, A. D., 1865, by the Court of Oyer and Terminer of said county, that the said Martha Grinder be taken to the jail of said county, and thence to the place of execution, and to be hanged by the neck till she was dead, to be executed upon her between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m., of Friday, the 19th day of January, A. D., 1866, in the manner directed by the 76th Section of the Act of General Assembly, approved the 31st day of March, A. D., 1860.

Now be it remembered, that I, JOHN H. STEWART, Sheriff of Allegheny County as aforesaid, did, on Friday, the 19th day of January, A. D., 1866, at or about a quarter past one o'clock, p. m., proceed to execute and did execute said Martha Grinder by causing her to be hanged by the neck till she was dead, within the yard of the jail of said county, in pursuance of the directions of said warrant of the said Governor, and the Act of Assembly in such case made and provided.

JOHN H. STEWART,
Sheriff of Allegheny County, Pa.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 20th day of January, A. D., 1866. WM. A. HERRON,

THE SUFFRAGE BILL.

We publish, below, the yeas and nays on the suffrage bill for the District of Columbia. The first is the vote on the instructions to insert qualified suffrage in the bill:

The House struck from the instructions the property qualification class, and then refused to recommit the bill to the Committee on the Judiciary with the remainder of the instructions—qualified suffrage—YEAS 53, NAYS 117, as follows:

YEAS.

Anderson, Banks, Blow, Brandagee, Bromwell, Buckland, Clarke of Ohio, Conkling, Darling, Davis, Dawes, Defrees, Delano, Deming, Dixon, Driggs, Eckley, Eggleston,

PASSAGE OF THE BILL.

The House then voted on the bill as originally introduced by Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, and reported back by Mr. Wilson, of Iowa, from the Committee on the Judiciary, without amendment, and which is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled. That from all laws and parts of laws prescribing the qualifications of electors for any office in the District of Columbia, the word 'white' be and the same is hereby stricken out, and that from and after the passage of this act no person shall be disqualified from voting at any election held in the said District on account of color.

"SEC. 2, And be it further enacted, That all acts of Congress, and all laws of the State of Maryland in force in said District, and all ordinances of the cities of Washington and Georgetown, inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed and annulled."

The bill was passed—yeas 116, nays 54, as follows:

The House then adjourned.

A Suicide Justified.

La Cronica, a Spanish paper published in New York, takes a very curious view of the suicide of Admiral Pareja, the commander of the Spanish fleet which menaced Chili in the Pacific. Pareja was mortified at the capture of the Spanish vessel El Virgin del Covadonga, by the Chilien war vessel Emeralda, and after brooding over the disgrace for thirty hours, he put an end to his life by the use of a pistol. As Admiral Pareja was not in special command of the Covadonga which was captured at a distance from his fleet, it might be reasonably supposed that, although he regretted the misfortune, it could not be made to bear against him, inasmuch as the officer in command of the vessel was a regular naval officer, who did not enter into the Navy through Pareja's appointment, and for whose lack of skill, bravery, or fortune, the Admiral was in no way accountable. His nature must have been sensitive even to the point of folly, or he never would have committed an act which no person of sense could commend. But La Cronica pronounces his self-destruction a "great deed," and says that "he died as should become a Spanish officer under such circumstances." Furthermore, says La Cronica:—

"We do not pretend to defend suicide; but when it is an act of disinterested sacrifice, then we do not only approve it, but glorify it, and the suicide of Admiral Pareja must be classed among those suicides which humanity regards with admiration."

An Indian Delegation—They claim Land in the Oil Region as their Property.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18, 1866.—A grandson of Red Jacket and a grandson of Cornplanter, the Indian chiefs who have been appointed a committee by the Indians residing on the reservation in Erie county, New York, arrived here to-day to ask the Legislature and authorities to give them possession of about fifteen hundred acres of land, which they say the State granted by patent to Cornplanter, under the act of Assembly approved February 1, 1799. Six hundred acres of the land are on Allegheny river, and three hundred acres on Oil creek, a short distance above its mouth, and including Oil City. Their visit and its object have created no little excitement, particularly among those interested in the oil region. Their expenses will probably be paid by the State, and due investigation into the facts will be made.

R. M. T. HUNTER of Virginia has recently made application to the Treasury for the cancellation of a note which he gave to the Special Agent of the Department for the redemption of two mules, abandoned property of the Confederacy, which were seized and exposed for sale by said agent. The note coming due on the 1st inst., R. M. T. H. pleads for its cancellation on the ground that he sustained great losses from both armies during the late war.

PEOPLE must have been surprised to hear Mr. Thad. Stevens recommending the test oath to be waived in the case of the southern lawyers, who want to be allowed to practice. He took the ground that a large number of attorneys in the south were endeavoring honestly to gain a living, and were incapacitated from doing so by the test oath, and that they ought to have as good a chance as men in the other professions. That seems to us good sense.—Prov. Jour.

GREAT SALE OF MULES.—The largest prices ever obtained in the United States for government mules, were realized on Tuesday, at a sale in Harrisburg, Pa. One hundred and twenty-five animals was disposed of at an average figure of $143 26. In a number of instances as high as $200 per head was obtained. The mules sold were very seperior, and among the best owned by the government.—Telegraph.

AN ALLIGATOR IN A COLD CLIMATE.—Some boys, while skating on the Licking river near Cincinnati, on Monday, discovered an alligator. Unluckily the water in that latitude had proved too cold for him, and he was frozen stiff. On being dug out he was found to be six and a-half feet long, with a jaw eleven inches long. He is supposed to be one of two that some soldiers brought up from New Orleans eight months ago, and which escaped from them.

NEW YORK CITY RAILWAYS.—The receipts of the New York city railroad and stage lines for the last six months of 1865 were as follows:—Second Avenue railroad, $215,663; Third Avenue, $555,970; Sixth Avenue, $247,104; Seventh Avenue, $620,813; Eighth Avenue, $362,803; Ninth Avenue, $39,850; Forty-second and Grand street $145,322; Fifth Avenue stage line, $123,396; Fourth Avenue stage line, $169,170.

A CAUCUS of Union members of the Kentucky was held at Frankfort on Wednesday last. Resolutions were passed indorsing President Johnson's Administration, requesting the removal of the troops and the Freedmen's Bureau from the State, asking for the right of habeas corpus, and declaring that Congress has no power to extend suffrage to the blacks.

MASSACHUSETTS is undergoing a mineral sensation. In the western part of the State a quartz vein has been discovered, which is impregnated with gold. Rich ores, it is said, extend over an area of sixteen miles in width.

GENERAL NEWS.

REBELS YET UNPARDONED.—As the impression prevails to some extent that nearly or quite all the distinguished personages who were active rebels have been pardoned, I am permitted to state that nearly twelve hundred applications are now upon the President's table, most of which have been there for several months. Seven hundred of them fall under the $20,000 clause. The remainder are classified as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Members of Rebel Congress | 86 |
| Ex-U. S. Army Officers | 132 |
| Rebel Generals | 127 |
| Prominent rebel civil officers | 32 |
| Ex-officers of the U. S. Navy | 116 |

—Wash. Cor. Phil. Press.

THE Jackson, Mississippi Clarion, regrets to observe so great a disposition on the part of colored people to congregate about the towns and villages, "refusing regular employment in the rural districts." It it is a thing to be deplored, what supreme assininity, on the part of the Legislature, was it to enact a law forbidding the freedmen to acquire real estate elsewhere than in incorporated towns. The inevitable result would be to draw the colored people, who desire to acquire real estate, and the independence it gives, to towns and cities. The Legislature, however, could not conquer its prejudices, and legislated at the expense of the agricultural interests of the State.—Cin. Commercial.

DECISION.—It has been decided that when a party buys furniture in the white or unfinished condition, on which excise tax has been paid, and more completely finishes and fits it for use, by painting, varnishing, upholstering, &c; he is liable to a duty of six per cent. on its increased value only. When a party buys looking-glasses and finished marble slabs, on which an excise has been paid, and uses them in the manufacture of furniture, he may be allowed in making up his monthly return, to deduct their cost from the value of finished articles, in the construction of which they are used.

THE CAPITAL OF NATIONAL BANKS.—The Committee on Banks and Banking had up today the petition of the Farmers' Bank of Delaware, asking an increase in the amount of their capital. No action was arrived at prior to the adjournment. The committee are all averse to granting the request, as it would be opening the door for innumerable similar applications. They are also against any increase of the national banking capital of the country until such times as the legal tenders can be withdrawn from circulation, and only then to a very limited extent.—Wash. Cor. Phila. Press.

JOSEPH H. MADDOX, the rebel blockade runner, who has sued the Secretary of War for damages in loss of his contraband business owing to his detection, arrest and imprisonment, alleges he will prosecute his suit before the Supreme Court, of New York. He says if Virginia never was out of the Union, ergo, she never should have been cut off from her supply of provisions and medicines, and Mr. Stanton should have not have interfered with her commercial relations.

SENATOR WADE, in a forcible speech yesterday, reminded his conservative friends that in the abundance of their sympathy with the Rebels at the South they were forgetting Four Millions of Unionists, whose rights and whose liberty at this moment in are peril. Mr. Wade succeeded also in extracting from Mr. Doolittle a denial that his speech of Wednesday was the result of consultation with the President —which, for the sake of the President and the country we are glad to know.—N. Y. Trib.

A CLERGYMAN, writing from Texas to the Post Office Department concerning a contract for carrying the mails, says he contributed in no way to the Confederate cause, except to pray for its success, and is in doubt whether, on that account, he can conscientiously take the test oath; "but," he adds, "as my prayers were not answered, I think they should not be considered 'aid and comfort,' given to the enemy."

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Tablet, writing from Rome on the 19th of December, says that an Irish priest, who was admitted to an audience of the Pope a few days before, asked whether he was to condemn the Fenians, of whom he said his parish was full. "Certainly," replied the Pope, "condemn them, as you must do all other secret societies, and say I authorize you to do so."

WHEREABOUTS OF WIGFALL.—A gentleman from Texas says it is not known what has become of Senator Wigfall. It is considered certain that he has not crossed the State into Mexico, and if in the United States his locality is secret. Many believe that he is dead.

A son of the late President Polk takes care of mules at Nashville, and gets $1.25 a day.—Exchange paper.

President Polk had no son.—Balt. Sun.

The son spoken of was probably a mulatto.

LETTER LIST.

LIST OF UNCLAIMED LETTERS remaining in the Post Office at Allegheny City, Pa., SATURDAY, JANUARY 20th, 1866.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

AYER'S AGUE CURE, for the speedy cure of Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers, indeed for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

Fever and Ague is not the only consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arises from its irritation, in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest and moreover is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be over estimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and sold by B. A. FAHNESTOCK'S SON & CO., and by all Druggists. ja16:2md&wT

RETROUVEY'S TURKISH BANDOLENIAN HAIR TONIC.
THE DRESSING AND RESTORER OF THE AGE
TURKISH BANDOLENIAN.

RETROUVEY'S TURKISH BANDOLENIAN. What can be more acceptable than anything that will beautify that will restore nature's decay by stopping the hair from falling out, restoring its natural color, making it to grow in luxuriance and beauty, assist in putting it up according to the present style and fashion and keep it in place? This Retrouvey's Turkish Bandolenian Hair Tonic will do, and for proof we refer you to any person who has tried it. It is acknowledged to be the beautifier of the age, the only Hair Tonic and Restorer worthy of the name. In Turkey, in France, in England, in America—everywhere where the "Bandolenian" is known—it is pronounced the ne plus ultra of Hair Preparations. Remember, it is free from all metallic poisons that are contained in most Hair Colors and dressings. It is the extract of many flowers and herbs, beautifully put up, an ornament to the toilet.

For sale by all Druggists and Perfumers, wholesale.

FOR SALE—FOR RENT.

FOR SALE.—A Farm of 44 acres and thirty-six perches, situate in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Penna. The improvements are a hewed log dwelling and frame kitchen, bank barn and other out buildings; a good orchard, apple and peach trees, of the best variety. The farm is underlaid with coal and limestone of the best quality; a flag stone quay of a No. 1 quality; very easy of access to the Monongahela river at Taggs' Ferry. This small farm I am authorized to sell at very low figures.

Also, a No. 1 stock and grain farm, containing 300 acres, situate in Cherry Hill Township, Indiana county, Pa., near the village of Greenville. The improvements are a two-story frame house; the largest and best barn in the county; fencing generally good; 250 acres cleared; the remainder well timbered. The land is good, large meadows which produce fine crops of hay. It is very convenient to churches, schools, mills, stores, &c., &c. This property will be sold very cheap and on easy terms.

Also, a farm of about 200 acres, situated in West Wheatfield Township, Indiana county, Penna. The improvements are a good, comfortable, two-story Frame House, with 6 rooms, a large frame barn, carriage house, good corn crib, wash house, bake oven and a two-story stone spring house; about 150 acres cleared and in timothy and clover; a good orchard of apple, peach, pear and quince trees. The fencing is generally good. The land is of a good quality, abundance of limestone, and but a short distance from coal. This property will be sold very cheap.

Also, a Farm of about 240 acres adjoining the above. The improvements are a large two story Log House and a large frame barn; 175 acres cleared and under a good state of cultivation; a small apple orchard; a large two-story milk-house. These two farms united would make a first-rate Stock Farm, or will be sold separately.

Also, a Farm of 170 acres, situated in East Wheatfield township, Indiana county, Pa. The improvements are a large Frame House with 10 rooms, log barn with a good shed all around; 50 acres cleared; two tenement log dwellings; apple archard; very convenient to church, schools, stores, &c. A portion of the purchase money will be taken in well located land in Iowa.

Also, a Farm of 158 acres in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county. The land is of the best quality; a very large orchard of the best variety of fruit. This farm will be sold at a very reduced price. Possession given on the 1st day of April, 1866.

Also, the best farm in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., containing 240 acres; about 6 miles south of the Pa. Railroad. The improvements are two large hewed log houses; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation. The fencing is all No. 1. The land is of the very best limestone; about 200 acres cleared, the balance in good timber. Possession on the first day of April, 1866. This property will be sold at a great bargain. The owner wishes to engage in other business.

Also, several other Farms ranging from $30 to $200 per acre.

Also, a Farm of 150 acres, situate in McCandless township, Allegheny county, Pa., about 8 miles from the city. The improvements are a Log House, a good barn, a young orchard of apple, peach and pear. I will sell this valuable property very cheap and on easy terms.

Bristol Bill alias Henry Parker, Captured—His House-Breaking Tools Seized—A Batch of Love Sonnets Found—Particulars of the Affair.

The reader will remember the extensive robbery of Williams' Banking House in this city some months since, and the fleeing of the suspected burglars to Canada. Every means in his power were used by Mayor Lowry to capture the robbers, and even after it was positively known that they had taken refuge in Canada, he wrote to the Chief of Police of Toronto, enclosing a circular describing certain articles stolen from the banking house of W. H. Williams & Co., also describing as the robbers the two men named Bristol Bill, and Smith, who goes by the name of Bill Close, stating that a reward of $1000 had been offered for the arrest of each of them.

On the receipt of that letter the Toronto police made inquiry and learned that they were both in Toronto, and early in May last attempted their capture, but without success. They got, however, a number of burglars' tools and other traces showing that the birds must have only recently escaped. The impression there, was that they had gone in the direction of Oshawa, and the photograph of Bristol Bill was forwarded to the authorities in that direction. He, however, went to Hamilton, and with the assistance of his friend, he managed to keep out of the way until Saturday, when he was cleverly nabbed by the Chief of Police, Captain Nichols.

The manner in which he was captured is thus given in the Hamilton Spectator, of the 17th inst. "It will be remembered that two men named Smith and Lamb were some time since arrested on a charge of attempting to rob the Gore Bank, but that the chief projector of the burglary, a man named Henry Parker, known better by the cognomen of "Bristol Bill," escaped to the States as soon as he discovered he was suspected of being implicated in the affair. At this time he was residing in a house on Main street, in Hamilton, with his wife and family, and when he fled he left them still living there. The house is comfortably furnished and indicates that Parker's vocation had been followed by him with great success. Indeed he is noted both in Canada and the States for being a most finished adept in the art of house-breaking.

"The chief of our Police has been vigilantly watching for his return to Hamilton ever since the time of his departure, justly thinking that the probabilities were that he would return, though it were only to remove his wife and household furniture. And so well appointed were his means of information that he was aware of Parker's arrival within an hour of the time at which the event occurred, which was on the afternoon of Saturday. The chief immediately mustered several of his men and taking them in person to Parker's house, he stationed them in such positions at the front and rear of the house that escape was impossible.

"He then knocked at the door and Mrs. Parker answered the summons. The Chief asked if a Mr. Grant lived there, and the woman said he did not, but at the same time "smelling a rat," she endeavored to close the door in his face. This, however, the Chief of the Police would not permit, and saying that he had no doubt some one else lived there who would do equally as well as Mr. Grant, rushed into the room, followed by Sergeant Ahrens. He found Parker in an inner room, and he offered no resistance to his arrest, but appeared stricken with amazement and dismay that his advent in Hamilton had so soon become known. The prisoner was speedily handcuffed and taken to the police station.

"There is abundant evidence to convict him, as in addition to the witnesses who appeared against his accomplice Smith, there is the evidence of a man named Lamb, who was also an accomplice. A number of burglar's tools were found in the prisoner's possession, amongst which was a "jemmy" of the most finished workmanship, which had recently been imported from England, and which was found carefully wrapped in flannel under his bed."

"Bristol Bill" appears to have a poetical turn of mind, as among the papers found in his possession, were several scraps of original poetry. We publish a few stanzas of it, thinking that it may be interesting to many to see the production of a mind composed of the incongruous elements of a love for the muses and a clepsamania disposition. The following is an extract from one of his letters.

Take back the kiss that faithless sigh,
With all the warmth of truth impressed;
Yet, no! thy fatal kiss may lie,
Upon thy lips its sweets would die,
Or bloom to make a lover blest.

Take back the vows that night and day
My heart received, I thought from thine;
Yet, no, allow them still to stay,
They might some other heart belay
As sweetly as they ruined mine.

Again in his pocket book is written the following tender and loving epistle:

Love thou so well, so tenderly,
As thou art loved by me?
Fame, fortune, wealth and liberty,
Were worthless without thee.

Though filled with blessings pure and rare,
Life's cup before me lay,
Unless thy love were mingled there,
I'd spurn the draught away.

We trust that the Canadians will watch their prisoner closely, or he will yet give them the slip, as he is one of the greatest scamps unhung.

Mayor's Morning Levee.

Notwithstanding the extreme cold weather, Saturday night, some fifteen "unfortunates" found their way to hotel de Reed, the majority of whom were sent to "loafer's paradise," yesterday morning, where they will be kept warm and fed at the expense of the honest, industrious tax payers of the county. Let Senator Bigham hurry up the passage of his bill for the erection of a Work House for Allegheny county. James Ward, Archy Campbell, James Jones and Michael Flaherty had been drunk and disorderly, and paid sums varying from $2 90 to $6 90. James Mooney, Joseph Reagan, Thos. Dillon, George Clark, John Turley, Wm. Bonafice, Joseph Tanner, Thomas Jones and Daniel McMurry were committed to jail for period varying from one to five days. They had been "boosy" and disorderly, and having spent all their funds, had to go up. Three others were fortunate enough to find favor in the eyes of his Honor and were discharged.

A Young Man Arrested for Forgery—No Examination Had—Prisoner in the Watch House.

On Saturday evening a young man named Charles Jenks, whose father is a highly respectable manufacturer, doing business on Second street, was arrested by officers Thornburg and Sarber, on a charge of forgery. The prisoner is in the lock-up awaiting a hearing, which will probably be had to-day. Of course until an examination is had all facts connected with the case cannot be arrived at. From the officers who made the arrest we learned the following. It seems that young Jenks has had considerable experience in the line of forging checks in his father's name, and that his indulgent parent has paid out large sums of money to save him from the consequences of his criminal conduct. During Saturday no less than eight checks were presented at the counters of the First and Third National Banks drawn by young Jenks, calling for sums varying from one to three hundred dollars, payment on which was refused.

His manner of operating is to step into a house that he knows has business relations with, or a knowledge of his fathers high standing in the community, ask for a blank check, which he proceeds to fill up for a given sum, and desires the favor of the money, as he has immediate use for it, and it is after bank hours. Knowing the father to be a reliable man, and not suspecting the son of dishonesty, he is generally accommodated. When the fraud is discovered, as before stated, he is saved by the interposition of his father and friends, as the parties victimized by him are usually content to get back their money in as quiet a manner as possible, having no desire to lacerate the feelings of his friends by a prosecution.

It further seems that during last week the young man took it into his head to make an extensive purchase of jewelry. Accordingly he called at the establishment of Mr. Stephenson, on Market street, and selected a full diamond set, suitable for a lady, the total value of which was a fraction less than $1,100, in payment for which he gave a check. Taking the jewelry he left the store and proceeded to an engravers where he left it to have the name of the lady for whom it was intended, carved on the various pieces composing the set. The jewelry has been recovered and it is surmised that it will be returned to Mr. Stephenson, in which event it is not probable he will insist upon a prosecution.

The father of the rash young man is at present in West Virginia, but has been telegraphed to return immediately. In the meantime he will be held in custody. We should mention it is the general belief among those who have good opportunity for knowing that a certain evil disposed person, first plys Jenks with liquor and then prevails upon him to commit the crime of forgery in order to raise the means to keep up their drunken revels. If this be true, he is morally guilty at least, as it is possible if uninfluenced by him he would not act in the manner he does.

Heavy Robbing in the Diamond Market.—Arrest of Two of the Perpetrators.

One of the boldest and most adroitly perpetrated larcenies which we have for some time been required to record, was committed in the Diamond Market, on Friday evening last. It appears that Mr. Joseph Harrison, butcher, occupying stall No. 87, had been the recipient of a considerable sum of money, over one hundred and fifty dollars of which consisted of notes under the denomination of three dollars. These he selected and placed them in his stand drawer, and while doing so was observed by four lads, who determined to make a descent upon it should opportunity present itself. They had not long to wait, for in a few minutes Mr. Harrison was called to an adjoining stand, and on returning observed the boys whom he had noticed previously, run out of the market house at full speed. His drawer was standing open and the money was gone. Information of the robbery was immediately conveyed to the police of both cities, and by nightfall, officers Elkin, Campbell and Scott, of Allegheny, succeeded in taking into custody a lad some thirteen years of age, by the name William Seibel, and another somewhat older named Finnerty.—On the person of the former some fifteen dollars of the money was found, and some eight dollars on the person of the latter. Seibel, gave information as to the other parties concerned in the affair and the police have taken measures for their arrest. He remains in the tombs awaiting a hearing and alleges that the money found on him was given to him by the other parties. He has served one term in the House of Refuge, and undoubtedly belongs to a regularly organized gang of juvenile thieves, who make the Federal street railroad depot their place of rendezvous. Finnerty, against whom the evidence was not so strong was held to bail for a hearing to-day. Seibel's father was killed in the army but his mother resides in the Third Ward, Allegheny, as do also the friends of the other parties concerned.

Interesting Case Decided.

The case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for use vs. William Bagaley, C. W. Ricketson and others, surities of the late Sheriff Woods, deceased, which was argued at the last term of the Supreme Court, by John McClarren, attorney for plaintiff, and H. Burgwin, Esq., counsel for defendants, was decided at Philadelphia, recently, and the judgment given by Judge Stowe, in favor of plaintiff, to the amount of $25,000 was affirmed. We subjoin the opinion of the Supreme Court:

READ, J.:—Since the cases of Beale vs. Comth—16 Serg. and R. 150—and Beale vs. the same—7 Watts 183, it is impossible to say that the omission to state in Narr the judgment upon which the fi. fa. issued is a fatal defect and for which we are bound to reverse. The court below, if it were a defect could have amended the declaration, and we will, if necessary, consider that as done, and the Narr amended accordingly. When a writ is delivered to the Sheriff, he is bound to execute it according to the exigency thereof without inquiring into the regularity of the proceeding whereon that writ is grounded, and whether voidable or erroneous such writ is a sufficient justification.

In this case, the money sued for was received by the Sheriff before his death and before the return day of the Writ, and it is impossible to contend that he was not answerable for it. A demand was substantially made, but the death of the Sheriff made any other request unnecessary. The only effect of bringing suit against the Sheriff, without a demand is, that the Court will stay the proceedings on payment of the amount levied, without costs. (Jeffries vs Sheppard, 3 B & Ald. 696.) The sureties are of course liable to pay for the default of their principal, and we see no error in the allowance of interest. Judgment affirmed.

Mrs. Grinder's Confession.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Many sincere people are puzzled by one of the circumstances of the case of the late Mrs. Grinder. In her confession, and in expressions just previous to her execution, she asserts her belief that she is savingly converted, and from the scaffold will ascend to Christ, and the supreme happiness of Heaven. The reverend gentlemen who sign her confession as witnesses, seem to assent, by their signatures, to the correctness of her assertion. Now, in the event that her victims departed from this world without conversion, which may well be the fact when we consider the suddenness with which they were hurried out of it, are we to assume that they are suffering endless hell torments, while their murderess is enjoying the unimaginable bliss of the redeemed? An explanatory answer to this question, from those instructed in theology, will be eagerly received by

MANY INQUIRERS.

The signatures of the clergymen to Mrs. Grinder's confession were simply attestations to her signature, and not an endorsement of her statements. We do not think, therefore, that the inference of our correspondent concerning this is correct.—[ED. GAZETTE.

Bold Attempt at Robbery.

A young man named John Beardsly, who is in the employ of Mr. John Baker, a resident of the Ninth ward, was attacked about ten o'clock last night, at the corner of Locust and Penn streets, by a gang of drunken rowdies and badly beaten. It appears that he was quietly proceeding to the house of his employee, having in his possession a rifle which he had brought home with him from one of the battle-fields near Nashville, which he was removing from his former boarding-house. A young man named James Sweeney was arrested and recognized by Beardsly as the party who gave him the first blow. After he was knocked down he alleges that some one of the party pressed a handkerchief to his mouth, and that the others kicked him, and tried to wrest his gun from him, and would have succeeded but for the timely interposition of a citizen and the arrival of the police. Officer Michael Reagan was hit on the head with a brick by one of the rowdies, which though it stunned him considerably, did not cause him to lose hold of his prisoner, whom he brought safely to the lock-up. He will have a hearing this morning.

More Stolen Goods Captured.

Officers Wilmot and Kemp proceeded to the residence of the man Dealy, in Allegheny, and succeeded in finding a valuable silver castor and a lot of fine sea shells, which it is supposed have been stolen. They are at the Mayor's office, awaiting identification. It was in this house that a large portion of the goods stolen from Douglas' hat store, were found a few days since. Dealey is in jail, charged with being a receiver of stolen goods, and it may turn out that he is also a burglar. It is pretty certain Dealy and Bannon knew all about the robbery of Douglas's store, if they were not really present with Herman at the time. For the present, at least, the two are out of the way of committing further depredations of a like nature.

Mrs. Grinder's Remains.—The mortal remains of Mrs. Martha Grinder still remain unburied, and in the custody of the Sheriff. When or where they will be interred is not known to the public. A rumor is current upon the streets that certain liberal gentlemen have agreed to place at the disposal of her husband a sum of money sufficient to enable him to have her decently buried. If this should be the case it is most likely that her funeral will take place at Saltsburg, where some members of the family now repose.

Borrowed a Shawl.—A Mrs. Woods laid in a complaint before Mayor Morrison, on Saturday, against one Mary Kelly, charging her with borrowing a shawl with the intention of never returning it. The parties had been in the city poor house, and after borrowing the article, Mary left the institution. She was found a house in the Sixth ward of this city, by officer Scott, who recovered the shawl and handed it over to the proper owner.

Another Cold Snap.—On Saturday night the weather set in cold and continued so during the day yesterday. We hear it stated that there is much suffering among the poor for want of a proper supply of fuel, and it behooves those who have enough and to spare, to see to it that none in their midst suffer—perhaps perish—from the severity of the weather.

Franklin's Birth-Day.—A portion of the printers of this city celebrated the birth-day of Dr. Franklin by a supper on Saturday evening, at Wilkins' Hall. The entertainment was gotten up by King, and we are informed that it was a splendid affair.

The Atlantic Monthly, for February, has just been received, and is for sale by Pittock, corner of Fifth and Smithfield streets.

Amusements.

THEATRE.—This week we are to have the legitimate drama. Mrs. Gen. Lander, formerly Miss Jean M. Davenport, a lady who has always been justly celebrated for her domestic virtue, makes her appearance for the first time in seven years, in her unrivalled character of the Countess, in Sheridan Knowles' great play of "Love, or the Countess and the Serf." From the great fame of Mrs. Lander, we have no doubt but that the theatre will be filled every night during her engagement.

OPERA HOUSE.—The season of travesty is over at this popular place of Amusement, and this week we are to have tragedy. Miss Fannie B. Price, a young and beautiful tragedienne who has had the highest enconiums passed upon her by the press wherever she has appeared, appears to night in the character Fanchan, the cricket, supported by the eminent tragedian Mr. M. D. Hanchett, who appears as Father Barbiand. Songs and dances complete the amusement of the evening.

SHERIDAN'S RIDE.—A young gentleman of this city, makes his first appearance to-night, and recites the poem extitled "Sheridan's Ride." For particulars, see posters.

La Fayette Hall—We desire to call our readers' attention to the fact that this evening Mr. J. R. Newell will give some of his select readings and recitations at La Fayette Hall. Mr. Newell is well known in our community, not only as a chaste reader and elocutionist, but as one of the most successful teachers we have in our city. For many years he he held position of Principal of the Fourth Ward School, since which time he has opened a select institution, and one of the greatest evidences of his popularity is the fact that our citizens consider themselves remarkably fortunate if they can procure admission for their children into his school. He has a very large circle of friends, and we hope to see the Hall crowded upon this occasion.

Masonic Hall.—George Alfred Townsend, the youngest, as well as the most brilliant of war correspondents, delivers his celebrated lecture, "Recreations of our Special Correspondent," at Masonic Hall to-night, under the auspices of Tennyson Club. Of Mr. Townsend as a lecturer we are sure we need not say a word. His recent lectures before the Allegheny Library Association attest his ability. Those who failed to hear him upon those occasions regretted it, and those who did not hear him at all regretted it still more. Seats may be secured at Mr. Meller's music store during the day.

Central Park.—An extraordinary fatality has followed every announcement that there would be a grand skating promenade at the Central. On every occasion the weather has moderated, and the fair skater, as well as those who are not fair have been obliged to chew the cud of bitter disappointment. But this time it is a sure thing and no mistake. The promenade will as assuredly come off this afternoon at half-past two as ice is ice. And then in the evening there will be a glorious jubilee. Chinees lanterns will be on hand to lend enchantment to the scene. Won't there be a jolly crowd though!

Trial of New Hose.—The Vigilant Steam Fire Company made a trial on Saturday of the new hose manufactured by J. W. Loughery, on Wood street. The company we understand were satisfied with the quality of the hose but at the request of the manufacturer tested two sections with the following result: 1st trial—80 lbs of steam pressure produced 165 lbs. water presure to the square inch. 2d trial—100 lbs. do—185 do. 3d. trial 130 lbs. do—caused the hose burst water at 226 lbs. water pressure.

Skating at Union Park.—We suppose that it is unnecessary to remind juveniledom that today this popular place of amusement will be thrown open, and has been plastered over by that master workman Jack Frost, with a beautiful coat of pure clear ice. To-night it will be brilliantly illuminated with the new lights which have been obtained, in addition to which centre lights have been placed in the middle of the Park. There is now no blinding glare, but a soft mellow light pervades the whole atmosphere of the skating grounds.

Surety of the Peace.—Phoebe Frank appeared before Alderman Taylor, on Saturday, and prayed that a warrant might be issued for the arrest of her husband, John Frank, and that he might be bound over to keep the peace. John had been asserting his prerogative as Phœbe's lord, by chastising her, and hence the complaint. Warrant issued.

The Pittsburgh Leader.—This excellent weekly is again before us, and, as usual, is filled with very interesting matter. The portrait of Mrs. Grinder is an excellent one, as any one who has seen her will testify. A leading feature of the Leader is that it is being used by some of the clergy of our city to show up abuses. It is bold, manly and outspoken, and deserves success.

God Help the Poor.

"God help the poor" the humble Christian cries,
"God help the poor" is a prayer that never dies,
Man is God's agent; from your well spread board,
Brother help brother, God gives the reward.

FROM YESTERDAY EVENING'S GAZETTE.

Daring Burglary on Wood Street—Safe Blown Open and Robbed.

This morning the hardware and cutlery establishment of Mr. James Bown, No. 136 Wood street, was found to have been burglariously entered during the night, and the safe blown up with powder, and robbed of $400 in money and a number of promisory notes. An examination of the premises developed the following facts: The thieves first endeavored to gain access to the yard by boring through the outside door, but finding the door lined with sheet iron on the inside they abandoned the boring process, and removing the bricks from around the door frame, tore out door and frame together. This was a bold operation, and must have required considerable time and labor. Having gained the yard, the thieves entered the shop by cutting a hole through the door, about six inches square, and reaching through wrenched off the padlock which served for a fastening. Having selected a number of very fine revolvers—ivory-handled and silver mounted—the thieves undertook the difficult task of blowing open the large iron safe in the store. A hole was drilled near the center of the door, and a charge of powder inserted sufficient to blow the door to pieces. The wreck was complete. The heavy outside plate was blown entirely off, and the inside sheeting was literally ripped to pieces. The force of the explosion was so great that a portion of the door, in striking the leg of a heavy desk, broke it in two. It is supposed that the thieves used a fuse, and betook themselves to the yard until the explosion occurred. The safe contained $400 in money, which had been taken in after bank hours on Friday evening, a number of promissary notes, and other papers. The contents of the drawer had been carried up Virgin alley, about two-thirds of the way towards Smithfield street, when they were examined. What was considered useless was thrown down, and the balance appropriated. Among the papers found this morning was an envelope containing $104, belonging to the members of Morris Lodge, which had been left in the safe. The thieves had neglected to examine this package, or had been frightened off before they had an opportunity to do so. The burglary was one of the boldest that has been committed here for some time, and chief Long and his police will have another opportunity to exercise their shrewdness before going out of office.

East Liberty.

The citizens of this thriving village have taken the preliminary steps towards having it erected into a borough. A committee has been appointed to report upon the proper boundary lines, and another meeting of freeholders will be held next week, for the purpose of fixing the bounds, selecting a name, etc. Under a general act of Assembly the Court of Common Pleas has power to erect boroughs, and when the necessary steps have been taken the Court will be applied to for a charter. There is some talk of changing the name, and "Sedgwick" has been suggested as a suitable name for the new corporation—in honor of the late Gen. Sedgwick, who was killed in the memorable battle of the Wilderness. We would suggest that, whatever name is selected, the name of the post office should be changed to correspond with it. The name of the post office at East Liberty is "Wilkins," and if the old name is retained, (which is not unlikely,) that of the post office should be altered.

Corner Loafing in Allegheny.—Within a few days past numerous complaints have been lodged at the Allegheny Mayor's Office, by merchants doing business on Federal Street, against parties of young men who congregate nightly at the street corners, and who by their conduct and language annoy and insult customers and passers by. Last night the police kept these crowds on the move, but no sooner had they left one corner than they established quarters at another. We are requested to state that if the practice is not stopped, the authorities of our sister city will use severe measures and enforce the law provided in such cases. The nuisance is a growing one and has become too intolerable to be borne.

Pennsylvania Postoffice Appointments are announced as follows:

Emanuel Ballenger, postmaster Rock Spring, Center county, Pa., vice Joseph A. Rankin, resigned.

L. P. Jackson, postmaster North Springfield, Erie county, Pa., vice Wm. S. Patterson.

Lewis Sparr, postmaster Boydstown, Butler county, Pa., vice Zack. Phillips, declined.

John Reiter, postmaster Karthaus, Clearfield county, Pa., vice J. M. Emerson, moved away.

Robbed in Drinking House.—J. S. Hargraves, of Wheeling, was robbed last night at James Algeo's drinking house, in the Diamond, of a gold watch and $165 in money. Hargraves was quite drunk, and while sleeping in a back room was relieved of his watch and money. The house was searched to-day, but none of the missing money was found.

Larceny.—This morning the till of Mr. Harrison, butcher, who keeps a stall in the Diamond market, was robbed of seventy dollars in money, by three boys who had been observed loitering about the stall. Two of them, Thomas Richmond and Edward Finnerty, have been arrested, and will probably be sent to the House of Refuge.

Wife Desertion.—Robert Montgomery was arrested to-day and taken before Mayor Lowry on a charge of having deserted his wife Mary, and refusing to contribute to her support. Robert was unable to give bail, and was committed for trial. The parties reside in Hardscrabble.

The Atlantic Monthly for February, has been received and is for sale by W. A. Gildenfenny, No. 45 Fifth street. It is as attractive as ever in its literary contents.

Our Young Folks—the best paper for the young now published—is just out for February, and is for sale by John P. Hunt & Co., Masonic Hall, Fifth street.

The Atlantic Monthly for February, has been received and is for sale by John P. Hunt & Co., Masonic Hall, Fifth street.

Miss Susannah Evans.

This girl, who bids fair to rival the celebrated Anna Dickinson, is announced to lecture in Johnstown next week, and we presume some of our Lecture Committees will induce her to pay a visit here. The subject of temperance is the prominent feature in her lectures, and she might prove a good aid for the Allegheny Temperance League. Rev. Theodore H. Cuyler, of Brooklyn, thus speaks of her:

"Her history is singular. Miss Susannah Evans is a native of Aberdare, in Wales; her father was a dram-seller and a drunkard. A Sunday school recitation, pronounced by her at an anniversary, was the means of reforming her father. Discovering that she possessed a gift for persuasive speaking, she began at twelve years to address her Welsh country-folk on temperance. In London and Manchester she was soon welcomed by crowds of auditors, and last year she determined on a mission to America. Large audiences have gathered to hear her at New Haven and elsewhere; she is overwhelmed with invitations to lecture; her head does not seem to have grown dizzy with success; and for one, I believe she has been sent over to us to aid in forwarding that temperance revival so sorely needed, and whose symptoms are growing apparent on every side."

Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Woodward, and Justices Thompson, Strong, Head and Agnew—The following judgments were entered Thursday morning:

Ralston's appeal. Judgment affirmed on an equal division of Court.

The commonwealth vs. the Central Passenger Railway Company. Judgement for the commonwealth on the plea of nul tiel record.

Hoffer et al. vs. Miller. Judgment affirmed.

Fretley vs. Barnhart. Judgment affirmed.

Commonwealth ex rel., Cass et al., vs. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Judgment for defendants on the demurrer to the return.

Brown and Campbell vs. Scott. Judgment affirmed.

Miller vs. Henlan. Judgment reversed, and a venire de novo awarded.

Henly vs. Warren. Judgment reversed and a venire de novo awarded.

Harden vs. Patterson. Judgment affirmed.

Carr & Co. vs. Beck & Palmer. Judgment affirmed.

Heilbroner & Co. vs. Wayte. Judgment affirmed.

Pennsylvania Railroad vs. Pennocks. This course was reversed on the 15th inst. Judge Agnew now files a dissenting opinion, in which Chief Justice Woodward concurs.

A Runaway Girl.

The Johnstown Tribune says: Catharine Riley, a young girl of Irish parents, aged about twelve years, left her home in Conemaugh borough on the morning of the 15th inst., and has not since been heard from. It is feared that she had gone to Pittsburgh, first having fallen into bad company in Johnstown. Catharine is a good-looking girl, with brown hair, cut short, and blue eyes, and when she left home was dressed in an old blue delaine dress, and white shaker bonnet, with a light-colored curtain. Any information concerning her will be gladly received by her afflicted parents. Letters may be addressed to Rev. P. Garvey, Johnstown.

Gold closed rather weak on Saturday. Friday's steamer brought favorable reports from Europe in regard to United States Securities, strengthening the market for Governments, and, without causing a decline in gold, made a dull market. Our market is bare of Seven-Thirty notes, and the demand is active and firm at full prices for the various issues. The gold bearing bonds have not improved under the European news, because at the present rates of exchange and gold the European quotations, although at an ad[illegible] will not authorize a shipment of bonds. There is no doubt of the fact that the credit of our bonds is steadily advancing in London and Paris, and the time is not far distant when they will stand on a par with the most favored of foreign loans.

The stock market is rather less buoyant to day—we could learn of no operations in Bank shares. The business in them during the week has been rather above the average, and holders have advanced their rates. $59½ was bid for old Bank of Pittsburgh; 106 for Peoples—an advance on each. We note sales of Columbia oil at 25. The market is reasonably firm, though not strong at these figures.

Money market tightened considerably towards the close of the week, and on Saturday the demanded exceeded the supply—causing an advance in rates. No. 1 paper selling at 8@9 per cent—other classes vary from 12 to 18, according to quality.

—It is generally assumed in financial circles in New York that the foreign clause will be struck out of Mr. McCulloch's loan bill, and that no inducement will be given to European capital in the way of convenient receipt of interest. If the bill is passed allowing the issue of forty-year six per cent gold-bearing bonds, it is thought that there will be no lack of European or domestic buyers in large amounts. The country still needs a security for permanent investments, for, strange as it may seem, out of $2,800,000 of Federal debt, and the entire list of Railway mortgages, there is nothing in which to employ surplus funds, except for very short periods, and it is generally agreed that the sooner the Secretary meets the want of gold-bearing bonds, for permanent investment, the better for all. Business is fretfully awaiting the action of Congress in regard to this important measure, and the markets will continue to fluctuate and exhibit panicky symptoms until it is finally disposed of. As to the benefits of a return to specie payment there is little difference of opinion anywhere, the only question at issue is as to the necessity of pressing the country back to specie payments by withdrawing the currency uttered under the pressure of the late war. The only people who wish to hold back and prevent a financial right are those who do the country most harm by keeping back goods at high prices and speculating to amass sudden fortunes.

—The report of the Secretary of the Treasury on the finances contains a table of imports and exports during the past four years. The exports are reduced to gold value, and include the shipments of specie. The comparison is as follows:

| Year ending June 30. | Imports. | Exports, Gold Value. | Excess of Imports. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1862 | $275,357,051 | $227,127,566 | $ 48,229,595 |
| 1863 | 252,919,920 | 252,419,206 | 500,717 |
| 1864 | 329,562,895 | 218,489,252 | 111,073,643 |
| 1865 | 234,339,810 | 194,175,382 | 40,164,428 |
| Tot'l | $1,092,179,676 | $892,211,398 | $199,968,283 |

It thus appears that during the four years ending June 30, 1865, we have imported $199,968,283 in excess of our exports of products and specie. The balance, so far as liquidated, has been set off by shipments of national bonds and other securities; and the largeness of the deficiency affords some indication of the amount of Five-Twenty bonds sent to Europe, as it has been chiefly in those securities that the difference has been paid.

—A recent case of sharp practice in stock circles has been made public within a day or two. It seems that some dealer in Era Oil shares put orders in the hands of different brokers, as both seller and buyer. The stock sold at from $3 to $4 per share. He put $1000 as margin into the hands of the buyers to buy on time, and left with the seller orders to sell for cash. Thus, on the $1000 margin, the buying broker was paying to his principal through the selling broker, cash for his stock, but when the time expired, the buyer's principal did not appear to take up the purchases, and the stock is reported to be of little or no value. Two or three well-known brokers have suffered from this default, or swindle, or whatever it may be, several thousand dollars.—Phila. Ledger.

—The interest which is felt abroad in respect to our financial condition cannot be better described than by giving an extract from a letter sent to the New York Tribune from Frankfort-on-the-Main, where a large number of capitalists was recently addressed by Mr. Lanier, whose remarks have been circulated by our consuls throughout Europe. It says:

"Gold or paper dollar is the question which agitates the German press and financiers. The more they discuss your financial prospects, the more they invest in your securities. On all 'Changes, the transactions in them are enormous. Since the receipt of the President's message and the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, the United States securities rule the market, almost to the exclusion of every other loan. The Wurtemberg official paper has brought out a long article warning against the excessive investment in your bonds; over 100,000,000 of guilders having been invested in them, to the detriment of other interests. But to the disappointment of the Government, your bonds the next day rose to two per cent, the liberal press taking the ground that the people could do nothing better than to invest in American securities as the safest loan offered in an age. These bonds are the most powerful and influential emissaries you could have sent over to the Old Continent to convert the masses to republican principles. They never before heard so much talk about America; your means and resources, your future and your prospects, are discussed everywhere, and in such favorable terms that emigration is the leading topic among the sturdy masses; and the next year will bring you, for every $1,000 of your bonds taken in Germany, at least one of her industrious sons."

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Jan. 20, 1866.

The general markets have been dull and languid during the past week, and while there has been a moderate local trade, the transactions generally have been of an unimportant character. As navigation has again been resumed, we may reasonably expect larger arrivals of produce, and this will doubtless have a tendency to increase the volume of business.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet but steady with some inquiry for prime Red; sale of 2 cars common Wisconsin White at $2,10. Barley is dull and entirely neglected. Corn may be quoted at 65@68 on track, and 70@73 for small lots from store. Sale of 700 bush Oats at 47; also, small sales at 49@50. Rye is quoted at 80@85.

FLOUR—Is dull and unchanged. Small sales from store at $8½ to $8¾ for Spring Wheat and $10¼@10½ for good to choice Winter Wheat brands. Buckwheat Flour is dull at $4¼@5 per cwt, and Rye Flour is exceedingly dull but nominally unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet but steady with a moderate demand and we can report small sales at 15¼ for Shoulders; 19 for Clear Sides; and 25@25½ for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is selling at 17@18 for country and 19@19½ for prime kettle rendered. Nothing doing in Mess Pork or Bulk Meats.

BUTTER—Is in good supply and the demand continues verylight; good to prime Roll may be fairly quoted at 28@30, with small sales of choice at 33@35. At no time perhaps within the past 12 months has the supply been as large as at present.

EGGS—Dull and lower, sales having been made to-day at 30. Supply considerably in excess of the demand.

SALT—Is dull but not quotably lower; we continue to quote at $2,80 per bbl on track, and $3 to $3,10 per bbl for small lots from store.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is taken on arrival at $2,70@2,75. Cloverseed is selling at $7 from first hands and holders are asking $8 in store. No demand for Timothy.

SORGHUM—Is dull and a fraction lower, sales being reported to-day at 75.

CHEESE—Is selling at 21 for Hamburg; and 22 for Goshen.

CRANBERRIES—Dull at $14@15 per bbl.

APPLES—May be quoted at $7 to $8 per bbl. for prime to choice.

POTATOES—Quiet and unchanged. Small sales from store at $1,20 per bush, and $3,50 per bbl.

HAY—Is quiet but steady at $15 to $18 per ton.

MILL FEED—Dull; sale of 1 car Middlings at $1,50.

WOOLRIDGE REFINING COMPANY.

The works of this Company, which it will be remembered were almost completely destroyed by fire some months ago, have been re-built and are again in operation, and the Company is now turning out from 700 to 1000 barrels of prime white oil per week. The Woolridge Refinery is without doubt one of the most substantial and complete works of the kind in Western Pennsylvania and the "Lucifer" brands stands at the "top of the heap," both in the East and Europe. At a meeting of the stockholders, a few days since, the following well-known business men were elected directors: John Watt; Capt. Jas. W. Porter; C. B. Herron; Geo. Black; Robt. Lea; D. W. C. Carroll; Robt. Wallace; H. H. Collins, and C. L. Caldwell. The Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. H. M. Long, is a gentleman of fine business qualifications, and is admirably adopted for the responsible position he has so lately assumed.

THE IRON TRADE.

At a meeting of the iron association the other day it was resolved to reduce the wages of all artizans employed in the mills, twenty per cent, to take effect on the first of February. Our iron manufacturers have found it necessary to take this step in order to protect themselves, as imported iron is now being sold in the western markets at rates which our iron men cannot compete with without incurring a loss. In case of a refusal on the part of the employees to submit to the reduction asked, it is probable that all the mills will be stopped.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE SATURDAY, Jan. 20, 1866.

There was more activity in the Crude market to-day than for some days past, but there is no quotable change in prices, and we continue to quote at 20@21, bbls returned; and 25@26, bbls retured. Sales of 210 bbls at 21; 75 do at 21; 160 at 20; 500 at 20, and 1000 at 25. The prospect of a speedy resumption of navigation being considered highly favorable, holders were more anxious to realize, and parties who a few days since refused 22 and 23, are now willing to sell at our quotations. There is still some inquiry for bonded oil, both for present and future delivery, but buyers and sellers are still wide apart, and consequently, we have no transactions to report. Sales were reported in Philadelphia to-day at 52, which would be equivalent to 44@45c, here. The demand for Free Oil continues very light, and prime city brands cannot be quoted above 68@70c. Naptha is very dull—in fact it is rarely mentioned. Sale of 100 barrels Residuum reported at $5 per bbl.

PETROLEUM STOCKS IN NEW YORK.

Special Dispatch to Western Press.

NEW YORK, January 20, 1866.

There was increased activity in Petroleum Stocks generally to-day, and the market was firmer. The leading features of the day were Palmer, Shade River, Bennehoff Run, and Pithole Creek.

The sales of Petroleum Stocks were at the following rates: Bliven, 4,75; Heydrick, 45; Allegheny, 4,00; President, 40; Shade River, 3,05; Bennehoff Run, 24,00; Buchanan Farm, 76; Bradley, 39; Fee Simple, 21; Ham McClintock, 5,00; Brevoort, 7.15; Oil Creek, 1,60; Palmer, 4,85; Pithole Creek, 11,90; Union, 14,00; United States, 21,05. Webster, 1,15.

NEW YORK PETROLEUM MARKET.

Special Dispatch to Western Press.

NEW YORK, January 20, 1866.

Petroleum remains very dull, with small sales of Crude at 33½@34c, and Refined in bond at 55@56c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

CHICAGO, January 20, 1866.

FLOUR—Dull and nominal.

GRAIN—Wheat opened 2c lower, but subsequently recovered with an active demand; sales at $1,22@1,23 for No. 1, and 84@89½c for No. 2. Spring Corn quiet and steady, at 43c for No. 1, and 33@34c for rejected. Oats dull, and ½c lower; sales at 24c for No. 1, and 21c for No. 2 Rye dull, and 2c lower, at 58½c for No. 1. Barley dull; sales of Canadian at $1,23.

WHISKY—Dull, at $2,18.

PROVISIONS—Dull and weaker: Mess Pork declined 50c; sales of 2,300 bbls at $26,50@26,50, closing at the inside. Cut Meats less active; Green Hams sold at 16c. Sweet Pickled Hams quiet, and held at 16@17½c. Bulk Shoulders were held at 11c, with buyers at 10½c. Lard quiet and easier, at 17¼@17½c for prime Kettle, and 17c for Steam.

DRESSED HOGS—Dull and easier, at $10,75; receipts, 5,663; shipped, 1,240.

LIVE HOGS—Very dull and 20c lower, at $9,00@9,80; receipts, 4,871.

BEEF CATTLE—Quiet, at $3,50@7,50

RECEIPTS—Receeipts of Hogs for the week, 54,339; for the season, 507,796; shipments for the week, 5,887, for the season, 197,840; left for packers and butchers, 309,956; estimated packing, 255,560.

Money matters unchanged. Gold 1,38¾.

CINCINNATI MARKET.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.

CINCINNATI, January 20, 1866.

PROVISIONS—More active with a fair demand for new Pork; sales of New City at $28@28,50 and Country at $28,50. Bacon firmer; Shoulders nominally 15c; sales of clear Sides at 18½c; Sugar Cured Hams, 24c, Canvassed, 25c. Packed Bulk meats quiet; Shoulders, 12½c; Sides, 14½c; Clear Rib, 15½c; Clear Sides, 16½c. Green meats steady; Shoulders, 9½c; Sides, 12½c; Hams, 16@16½c. Lard firmer; sales of City, 17½@17¾c, closing firm.

HOGS—In good demand; sales of live at $9@9,25 gross, $11,25@11,50 net; Country dressed, $10,50@11,50. Receipts, 3,800 head.

New York Iron Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The market for pig is very quiet, and we only notice 200 tons Scotch in lots, at $50@51; and 100 do to arrive, $48. American is also inactive. We notice 200 tons No. 1, at Elizabethport, on private terms; 50 do Trenton No. 1, $50; 100 do No. 2, $48; besides 200 do cast scrap at about $43@44; 200 do wrought do on private terms; and 200 do, old Rails, $50. We notice sales of 100 tons Swedes bar from importers hands at a price within our range. From store the demand is moderate at our quotations.

Cleveland Market.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 20.—Wheat—Sound qualities in moderate request. Sale 6 cars No 1 Milwaukee Club and amber Michigan on private terms. Corn—Steady and in moderate request. Sales 4 cars shelled from store at 55c. Oats—Rather better demand but unchanged. Sales 4 cars No 1 at 40c. Rye—Dull and nominal. Held at 70@75c. Barley—Inactive and nominal.

Review of the New York Grocery Market.

(From the Commercial List Jan. 22.)

Coffee—Rio continues in fair request, and for the good and better qualities there is a firm feeling, pretty full prices being realized. There is also a good distributive demand from the country from dealers' hands. In other kinds there is but little doing. The sales include 2057 bags Rio per Chatharina, 285 do per Deutschland, 1000 do per Eaglet, 550 do per Emily Agnes, 1000 do per Undine, 3000 do to arrive, per Carioca, all on private terms; and 2000 do in Baltimore, per Agnes, at 20c gold. The other sales are 331 bags Porto Rico at 21½c (the sale in our last was made at 21); 100 Maracaibo, 23½; and 150 Native Ceylon, from second hand, 23½ cents gold. By auction, 200 bags damaged Savanilla sold at 23½@29½c; and 50 do Rio, 25½, cash.

Sugar—There is a steady moderate inquiry for Raw for home use, with a fair amount of business from day to-day, but the market is weak, and prices, especially of other than refining grades, rather tend downward. We quote, as before, fair refining Cuba 11¼ cents; good do, 11¾, but these are extreme and rather nominal quotations. Refined is inactive and lower—hard, 18c; soft white, 16¼@17; and yellow, 14¼@15¼. Messrs. R. L. & A. Stuart quote their best crushed 18c; granulated, 17½; ground, 17½c; white A, 17c; and yellow C, 16½c, cash.

Spices—There is more general demand from consumers, but the market as yet is inactive. The considerable parcels of Cassia recently arrived were sold and reported previously, and there is further inquiry, but we only hear of 70 cases at 70c currency, and 2000 lbs nutmegs 90, gold.

Rice—The market is steady, with sales of 3300 bushels Para Paddy on private terms; 50 ters Carolina, $12@13; and 50 bags Rangoon, $9,75, cash.

Baltimore Cattle Market.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 18.—Beef Cattle—The offerings during the past week amounted to 1247 head, being 268 head less than last week. The quality of cattle offered was not quite as good as last week, and prices declined a shade. The stock trains were behind time this week, owing to the snow on the mountains, and did not get in until last night, so that the whole transactions of the week were confined to the sales made to-day. Of the number offered 338 were from Ohio and 297 from Western Virginia, by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad; 88 from Illinois and 36 from Western Pennsylvania, by Northern Central Railroad; 144 came by Railroad from Lynchburg; 84 from Valley of Virginia and 46 head from Maryland, on foot. There were 250 head left over from last week. Of the sales 150 head were bought by Washington butchers, 75 by the Government agent, 250 by graziers, 100 were sent to Philadelphia, and 150 left over—the balance (522 head) were taken by Baltimore butchers. Prices to-day ranged as follows: Very best on sale $8,75@9,25, second quality $7,50@8,50, third do $5@7, stock cattle $4,50@6, and scalawags $3,25@4 per 100 pounds. The market opened very dull and continued so to the close.

Sheep—Tee supply has been about equal to the demand this week, with sales at 6½@8½c per lb.

Hogs—The supply has been very large since last week's report, and the packers have bought largely at prices ranging from $12,50@$13; retail, to butchers, at $12,50@14 per 100 lbs—market closed very dull.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

Finance and Trade in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Railway speculation opened firm to-day at the Stock Exchange. There was a large business done on Pittsburgh and Old Southern after the regular call. There was a perfect furore on Pittsburgh, and stock sold up to 90 amid great excitement, but afterwards fell to 87½. It is rumored on the street that parties who recently cornered Prairie Du Chien are making a corner in Pittsburgh, and have control of nearly all the stock of that road. There is very little outside support to the market and it would decline still further were it not for clique movements in a few stocks. The Stock market at the second and last board was dull and generally lower on the railway list. After the call there was a bad break in Pittsburgh and stock sold down to 83¾, and then rallied to 84½. The following were the closing prices at 4:30 P. M: New York Central 92¾; Erie 83¾; Hudson River 103; Reading 101; Michigan Southern 70; Cleveland and Pittsburgh 81½. Governments were lower, owing to the unfavorable news from Europe. State bonds firm, but rather quiet. Miscellaneous list lower on steamship shares, but steady on others. Gold continues weak, at about the rates of yesterday, although the foreign news has somewhat modified the strongly bearish tone developed yesterday afternoon. The rate closed at 139.

Money continues abundant. The rate on call is generally five per cent.

The Commercial says: The miscellaneous list was dull, except Cumberland, which sold largely and closed 1½ higher.

The advance in rate of the Banks of England and Holland has a depressing effect upon Government securities. The second and third series of five-twenties sold ¼ lower at the Board. Seven-thirties are down ⅛@¼, and ten-forties ¼. Certificates remain firm at 98¾, with active demand from private banks for employing idle balances.

Money continues very abundant. The rate quoted is usually 5 ℔ cent. Arrangements have been made for loans over Sunday at 4 ℔ cent. The movement of currency westward has abated.

New York Market.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—COTTON—Dull, heavy and nominally lower, at 50c for Middling.

FLOUR—dull, heavy and 10@15c lower; $7,60@7,80 for Extra State; $8,40@8,60 for R. H. O., $8,65@10,20 for Trade Brands, the market closing dull and unsettled.

WHISKY—Quiet; Western, $2,28, and Refined, $2,26½.

GRAIN—Wheat dull and nominally lower. Corn dull and lower, at 82@83c for unsound, and 86@88c for sound mixed Western in store and delivered. Oats dull and lower, at 38@40c.

GROCERIES—Coffee, Rio, 18¾; Porto Rico, 21½, gold. Sugar quiet and ⅛c lower; Common Molasses, 1,01¼; Havana, 63. Molasses quiet.

PETROLEUM—Crude, 33½@34c; Refined in bond, 55@56c.

PROVISIONS—Pork opened dull and lower, and closed with more firmness, at $29,75@30,12½ for New Mess, closing at $30,00 for cash; $28,75@29.00 for Old Mess, closing at $28.00 for cash; $22,00 for Prime; $23,50@23,75 for Prime Mess; also, 3,250 bbls New Mess, January and February, sellers' option, at $29,25@30,00. Beef quiet and steady. Hams, steady; Western, $40,50@41,00. Cut Meats quiet, at 11@13c for Shoulders; 15½@18c for Hams. Bacon dull. Dressed Hogs unchanged, at 12¼@12½ for Western; 12¾@13c for City.

LARD—Dull and heavy, at 15@18c.

BUTTER—Dull at 20@33c for State.

CHEESE—Quiet, at 11½@17½c.

New York Stock and Money Market.

Money quite easy at five per cent. for call loans. Sterling dull and declining at 108¾@108⅞. Gold a shade firmer, opening 138¾, advancing 139¼ and closing at 138¾. Total exports specie for the week $695,894. Government Stocks are dull and lower. Transfers to Liverpool quiet without meterial changes.—Stocks weak; 5-20 Coupons, '62 103¼; Treasury Notes, 1st series, 99; 2nd, 98¾; 3rd, 98⅞. Golden syrup in bbls 97 cts, in half bbls 5 cts, and kegs 10 cents additional.

RIVER NEWS.

RIVER, WEATHER ETC.

Since our last there has been a very considered change in the weather. On Saturday morning, it commenced to turn cold, and snow and sleet fell fast and furious. During the afternoon it became comparatively clear, but still continued to grow colder. Yesterday was very cold, it made an abortive attempt to snow. The river has taken another rise, and last evening there was nine feet water in the channel, and rising. Ice was running very heavily out of the Monongahela. Business at the river, in view of the departure of several steamers was rather lively.

The port list last evening, consisted of the Rover, Waunita, Financier, Armadillo, Deleware, Leni Leoti, Columbia, Nevada, Julia No 2, Bayard, Forest City, and Glasgow.

The America, Capt. Golding, left on Saturday for Nashville, with a very good trip on board.

The Armenia, Capt. Capt. McCallum, left on Saturday for St. Louis, loaded to the guards.

The Citizen, Capt. J. H. Hare, left on Saturday for New Orleans.

There are several boats about ready to go out, and some of them will go out to-day unless intense cold weather should form ice sufficiently thick to impede navigation.

It was reported on Saturday that there was a rise in the Allegheny at Warren of twelve feet. This, however, lacks confirmation. There may have been a break in some ice gorge, causing a sudden rise, for ice has been running for a couple of days in that river.

The Lorena and Kate [illegible] were advertised to leave on Saturday, but [illegible] urday evening.

The Kenton, left Cincinnati for this port last Thursday night, and may consequently be expected here to-night, if the river continues to allow her to come up.

The Leni Leoti, Capt. Campbell for Louisville, the Nevada, Capt. Evans, and the Bayard, Capt. Geo. D. Moore, for Parkersburg, are ready to go out, and will leave this day unless the ice should be too heavy.

The Vulcan, from Clinton, on the Tennessee river, is on her way up, loaded with pig iron for this place.

The Ida May was sunk a few days since at Loggy Bayou, on Red River, one hundred miles below Shreveport, La. She had Morris & Howe's circus and a little freight on board. She was valued at $20,000.

The Luella, Capt. Hazlet, left for Nashville on Saturday.

The Mississippi river is open to Hannibal, but there is heavy ice at Quincy.

Late Arkansas river advices state that the Agnes, while ascending the Arkansas River, near [illegible], bound for Little Rock from New Orleans, laden with coffee, sugar and other merchandise, struck a snag and sunk to the guards. She is now lying with her head downstream, and it is rather doubtful whether she can be raised. The Agnes was during [illegible] bought by parties in St. Louis last summer, to which place she was taken, and so thoroughly renovated as to present the appearance of a bran new steamer. She was under command of Captain John [illegible] at the time the accident occurred, last Thursday. We are unable to learn any particulars in regard to insurance. We judge she was valued at $35,000. No lives were lost.

The St. Louis Democrat of Friday says:

The north western country is progressing. A St. Paul special says a bill has been introduced into the Minnesota Legislature, with the object of securing an appropriation for perfecting uninterrupted navigation between St. Paul and St. Louis. Mr. H. Webster, of Chicago, offered to run six boats between St. Louis and St. Paul, provided the Minnesotians would take $5,000 stock in the enterprise. Steamboat transportation companies are on the tapis. The entire river from St. Paul to New Orleans will be attended to.

PIANOS.
The Estey & Co.'s Cottage Organ AND AMERICAN ORGAN.
Pronounced by the best judges to be the most perfect instrument of this kind in the world.
Our Pianos have no superior as to power, purity and quality of tone, touch, workmanship, durability.
The "American Organ" is fully equal to the best manufactured in the country.
The "Estey & Co.'s Cottage Organ" is a new thing in the Cottage or Parlor Organs. By a patent arrangement of the reeds, and the addition of a pedal sub-bass, a $250 ten stop instrument has as much power as a $700 Church Organ. At the late Indiana State Fair, it was awarded the first premium over a twelve-stop Organ, and all competitors, for power and beauty of tone.
Brass and German Silver Instruments, of every description, for Brass and Cornet Bands, at reduced prices. Satisfaction guaranteed.
